Design begins on long-desired dog park

By Anna Thibodeaux

"I have many residents who have been waiting for this a long time," Councilwoman Mary Clulee said as the St. Charles Parish Council approved design work for the parish's first and long-awaited dog park.

The project passed with one opposing vote by Councilman Paul Hogan.

The estimated $400,000 project will go on a 2.6-acre site near the parish's Animal Shelter at 921 Rue la Cannes Drive in Luling.

Parks and Recreation Director Duane Foret told the council the project would be done in phases.

"We do have enough in the budget to get the project started," Foret said.

Civil & Environmental Consulting Engineers of Luling will design the park. The contract was awarded at Monday's council meeting.

Getting the "Paw-ty" on for the park

- Larry Cochran promised the dog park when he ran for parish president.
- This dog park would be the first for St. Charles Parish.
- Last year, the council allocated initial funding for the park in the budget. "Paw-ties" have been used to help fund the project. Families paid $50 to have their children's parties at the Animal Shelter.
- The parish's lobbyist, Tazuin Consultants, has been seeking external funding for the park.

Man walks from California to D.C. on 'pilgrimage' for prayer

Alongside the ever-flowing lines of traffic on U.S. Highway 90, Patrick Spencer is walking on what he calls his "pilgrimage" to encourage prayer.

Despite the near deafening drone of vehicles rolling by, Spencer's mind is finally quiet and he wants to share his own journey with those he meets.

When he arrived in Boutte, he was on his 170th day of a journey that will take him from California to Washington, D.C. Along the way, as he did in Boutte, he has stopped at places, including churches, to talk about God and encourage others to pray. The learning is as much for him, as it is for the pilgrimage.

"God inspires me on a deeper level," he said. "A lot of people should listen. He wants the best for us regardless of what we have done or what we do in the future. I'm constantly praying and talking to God, even with my faults. God is still continually teaching me. This gives me peace."

On Aug. 29 of last year, he started walking.

"Along the way, I walk and talk, encouraging prayer," he said.

Spencer expects to be in Washington in four months and then may begin another pilgrimage in Ireland.

"I get clarity," he said. "The question we should ask is 'Who is God?' The question is 'What is it that you want from God?' Those are the questions I ask every day, but basically those are my two main questions to be a better man and a better follower of Christ, and how can I add to society rather than take away."

Bearing his big backpack and slim staff, Spencer has traveled far in his own life.

He was middle management for a railroad company, drove a truck for years and even owned two businesses in Florida, but lost it all.

"I lost everything," he said. "Two businesses, a marriage, a beautiful house, a dog ... I ended up living in a van with 26 cents in my hand and a ton of debt."

In his devastation, he had a revelation – actually multiple revelations from his meditations.

'Stall buddies' escape and survive one of the busiest highways in the U.S.

Passerby's photograph of two horses running along U.S. Highway 90 in Des Allemands after getting through a fence at a local farm.

Drivers on U.S. Highway 90 were likely surprised to recently see two horses running on the roadside in Des Allemands.

They had escaped around 10 a.m. last Wednesday from the nearby Rock N Ranch (RNR) farm.

Just back from the dentist, Steve Naquin reached for his cell phone and saw numerous phone calls (two from the Sheriff's Office), 33 text messages, two Facebook messages and a photograph of two horses running alongside the highway. Naquin recognized them because they are among the 50 horses boarded at his farm, which is also in Des Allemands.

St. Charles Parish Sheriff's Office spokesman Cpl. James Grimaldi said the horses escaped from their enclosure by accident.

Naquin explained the two are "stall buddies" and belong to the

New courses among more than 100 offered for Community Ed spring classes

Painting, piano, theatre and photography among the many

By Ryan Arena

ryana@heraldguide.com

Set to begin March 18, the Community Education program will offer more than 100 classes to choose from for those wanting to expand their knowledge or learn a new skill.

Registration for the spring session of the St. Charles Parish Public Schools-led program runs through March 1. Program coordinator Jayne Tate, who has seen the program evolve and grow over the 20 years she's been a part of it, said there will be more classes held at the Lafon Performing Arts Center than for the fall session, and that the relatively new venue represented a prime opportunity for the addition of new classes, including several art courses like watercolor and acrylic painting, as well as new musical offerings like piano.

"It's just a wonderful place to have these classes because you have educational wings and additional space to work with," Tate said. "I get excited about it because this is near and dear to me. We have classes for ages three and up ... we've had some 97 year olds taking the classes."

Take precautions with rising number of infected raccoons

By Anna Thibodeaux
Managing Editor
annat@heraldguide.com

With increased reports of raccoons infected with distemper in Southeast Louisiana, animal owners are being advised to take special care to avoid attracting wild animals near residences.

Jena Troxler, supervisor of the St. Charles Parish Animal Shelter, said they've received occasional reports of abnormal behavior with raccoons that includes being out during the day with a decreased fear of humans. These animals also show malaise, and the best protection is to be proactive.

But animals infected with parvovirus or distemper are a particular concern for unvaccinated dogs.

Troxler warned that an unvaccinated animal bitten by rabid wildlife requires a six-month quarantine or euthanasia.

To discourage wild animals coming to a residence, Troxler offered some tips.

"It is vital to close garbage and not leave out more cat food than can be eaten in 19 minutes," she said. "Otherwise, one draws out the wildlife and changes behavior by increasing activity, which is a recipe for disease transmission."

In Southeast Louisiana, the Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries (LDWF) has received more reports about raccoons infected with distemper, primarily from Lafayette to the Florida Parishes in southeast Louisiana.

Distemper is a virus that infects raccoons, foxes, coyotes, skunks and unvaccinated dogs.

The disease is spread among susceptible animals through direct contact with body fluids or droppings from an infected animal, according to LDWF. The best prevention for dogs is to make sure they are vaccinated. Contact a veterinarian to make sure your dog's shots are current.

Symptoms of distemper may include discharge from the nose and eyes, a rough coat of hair, seizures, coughing, emaciated appearance and unusual behavior such as disorientation or wandering aimlessly. The animals' symptoms will become progressively worse Architectural drawing of the Killona Community Center with the planned expansion.

$300,000 expansion will more than triple size of activity center

By Anna Thibodeaux
Managing Editor
annat@heraldguide.com

Announcing the $300,000 expansion of Killona Community Center has been something St. Charles Parish Councilman Terrell Wilson has been hoping to do since last year.

It was a matter of funding, but that came together recently, which means the community will see the center expanded to four classrooms, two additional bathrooms and an office.

"This is a significant, meaningful project because kids and seniors are vying for space," Wilson said. "We have more programs so we need a bigger footprint. Our hope is the outreach from the public schools and library systems can expand now that the footprint has."

The building's one classroom allowed holding a senior program or children's program, but not at the same time, he said. The tight space held up holding programs or allowing for new ones, but it was critical to grow it because Wilson added, "That building is a hub for Killona."

With the expansion, the center will grow from 2,700 square feet to 11,800 square feet. The center was initially built with expansion in mind in 2015, which means it can already accommodate additional infrastructure in electricity, plumbing or AC and heating, Wilson said.

But budgeting had been so tight overall that the Killona center's small space was just one issue.

Upping the technology at the center is a subject that Wilson welcomed the opportunity to discuss.

Artist captures historic places in Des Allemands that are no longer there

By Anna Thibodeaux
Managing Editor
annat@heraldguide.com

Framed in warm pencil detail and soft colors, the sketch of the Smile Inn brought back memories for Brigitte Mentz.

The Smile Inn, a bar and dance hall that once stood in Des Allemands, was much more than a drawing to her. It was the place her grandparents, Paul and Jane Peyregne, owned and where she spent much of her childhood.

"I was told my playpen was Stan Routh's drawing of the Smile Inn in Des Allemands.

there," Mentz said.

She saw the drawing on a Facebook page named "Remember Des Allemands" and commented on it. Mentz recalled the location still being in operation when she was a teenager.

"I don't drink beer to this day because of the smell of beer cans behind the place," she said. "I can't handle beer."

But she welcomed seeing the old Smile Inn again.

It was one of three sketches of Des Allemands done by artist and architect Stan Routh, which also included the old volunteer fire station and old grocery store.

All are gone today, but they live on in Routh's "Places People Remember" collection. He has nearly 5,000 images of historic locations in Louisiana, which he has been making since the 1950s.

And, even at age 85, he's still a man on a mission.

"I'm an architect and been involved in historical preservation projects in the state," Routh said. "I'm interested in architectural history."

Routh, who has a master's degree in history and design, has been recording country stores, little churches, old homesteads, mills, bridges, barns and many other structures in ink, pencil or watercolor.

The Des Allemands locations he's drawn fit in with his collection.

New St. Rose company could employ 250

By Anna Thibodeaux
Managing Editor
annat@heraldguide.com

An estimated $40 million of work has begun on turning the old Schwegmann building in St. Rose into a high-speed data center that could employ up to 250 people.

"We are bringing $100 million of foreign investment in the state of Louisiana," said Chad Harris, global director for Whinstone US. "It's a big deal as anything else that has happened in this state."

Company partners include Ashton Harris and Lyle Theriot, both of New Orleans.

"We're definitely building it," said Harris. "We have a full team building the facility."

The project will begin in three phases, representing a $40 million investment, to be done by the third quarter of this year. Advancing on the next seven phases anticipated with the project will be contingent on Entergy's ability to facilitate the power.

"Our No. 1 biggest hurdle is power," Harris said.

In addition to Entergy, he said other infrastructure needs factoring into the project include railroad, local and state governments.

Data processing is only part of the operation. Harris said they also will provide video rendering.

"We build high-speed data centers that offer managed solutions for global partners to process financial details," he said.

Plans are to renovate 50,000 square feet of the building in the project's first phase, Harris said.

Ultimately, up to 10 phases are planned for the project, which will employ up to 250 people directly and another 500 people indirectly for work such as construction.

"We're working on Phase 1 ... contingent on the speed and efficiency of Entergy as the utility provider," he said.

The center startup will require 200 megawatts of electricity to operate, which will require a substation switch yard to facilitate additional energy directly coming from the transmission grid.

Fire in Luling displaces family

By Ryan Arena

ryana@heraldguide.com

A fire that raged during the night in Luling's Lakewood Estates subdivision destroyed the inside of a home and has displaced the family that lived there. Craig Petit, Luling Volunteer Fire Department fire chief, said the actual cause of the fire is undetermined, but that an investigation revealed a resident was at home on the patio with the home's gas fireplace burning. "The occupant heard some popping noises and went outside, noticing the fire," Petit said, adding that the fire occurred in the area where the home's chimney and attic meet. Firefighters with the Luling and Paradis Volunteer Fire Departments were dispatched to the home, located on S Lake Drive, at 8:38 p.m. on Feb. 3. According to Petit, the first fire officer arrived on the scene approximately two minutes later and saw flames coming from a chimney and light smoke coming out of the eaves and roof vents. The first engine arrived at

Spencer said it came to him while he sat in a church for hours. "I would just pray, think and try to listen," he said. "Is God real? All these coincidences are happening in my life, but now for the first time in my life I've got real internal peace. This was deep and something I never really had. I had anxiety, frustrations, anger issues, but I would sit for hours. About September of 1993, I would eventually lose everything and I would start living in a van." Jesus tells us that when we welcome the stranger, we welcome him

We have avoided another government shutdown. We are the only democracy that has government shutdowns. When the government shuts down, the people who feel the pain are government and contract workers going without paychecks or those who depend on federal programs like food stamps for survival. This is unjust and goes against all Christian values. (We should outlaw all Government shutdowns.)

BY WILMER L. TODD

President Trump in his State of the Union speech tried to vilify the immigrants by using El Paso as an example. He stated that before they built the fence, El Paso had a horrible crime rate and after the fence was built, it became one of the safest cities in the U.S. As often happens, the President made up his facts to further his agenda. The truth is, El Paso was one of the safest cities in American before the fence. After they built the fence, the crime rate actually went up for a while. It went down again and is one of the safest cities in the U.S.

Stacey Abrams, giving the Democratic response to the President's State of the Union address, said, "Compassionate treatment at the border is not the same as open borders."

Recently we have witness inconceivable human cruelty, a kind that has lasting repercussions for the vulnerable individuals involved. Who would believe that in the land of the free and the home of the brave, we would be threatened by penniless, shoeless migrants who have traveled hundreds of miles to escape gangs, violence and brutal poverty?

Most Rev. John Stowe is the Bishop of the Diocese of Lexington, KY. For the first 15 years of his priesthood, he worked on the U.S.-Mexico border in El Paso, TX as pastor of a church.

He asks, "What kind of national security requires the separation of children from their parents? We have seen the great outcry that Americans do not want to be identified with cruelty, do not want to be identified as a nation that allows children to be warehoused and penned like livestock behind chain-link fences."

He goes on to say, "We must insist that family incarceration is still the incarceration of children.

We cannot allow the public to become accustomed to tent cities on military bases, asylum seekers turned away at the border, and families with or without children held in detention.

Nor do we want to see the families who are escaping violence being sent back to the very places they risked everything to escape.

"We do not have the political will to protect immigrants' human rights, to provide protection in the workplace, to provide a pathway to legal residency.

These are people who are picking our produce, building our businesses and homes, caring for our children, tending our yards, processing our poultry, and doing the difficult work that many Americans will not do and do not envision their children doing, yet we do not allow these decent and hardworking people to participate in society. They live in fear of deportation, in fear of raids, in the fear that in going to work on any given day they might be rounded up and their kids may come home to any empty house with no knowledge of where the officers took their parents."

The President loves to blame illegal immigrants for their high crime rates. The truth is: the crime rate for illegally aliens is actually lower than the general population. A Texas study found, "The arrest rate for illegal immigrants was 40 percent below that of native-born Americans."

In the parable of the Last Judgement the just ask, "When was it that we saw you a stranger and welcomed you?" The king (Jesus) will answer them, "Truly I tell you, just as you did it to one of the least of these who are members of my family, you did it to me." (Matt. 25:38 & 40)

Getting a dog park is paw-tastic

Yes, it's a long time coming for many people in St. Charles Parish – the dog park.

Not all agree it's the best use of tax dollars, but many do feel it is and have stated so often. Many residents maintain it's a much desired quality of life project and one they've asked for several years.

Council members stated as much at last Monday's council meeting, emphasizing their constituents – many of them – have asked about its status.

It shouldn't be a surprise considering the public's growing support for the St. Charles Parish Animal Shelter.

Volunteers are walking dogs, petting cats and securing help for those unfortunate creatures lost, abandoned and injured. The shelter is proactive with many showing their appreciation by donating time and/or money for them. The St. Charles Humane Society helps, too, and many have benefitted from its assistance.

How impressive it is to see so much concern and support for animals.

I'm not going to hide it – I love critters. Our compassion and love for them is certainly impressive.

Thanks St. Charles Parish for making it possible for them to touch grass, walk in the sunshine and us glowing over knowing we've made the world a better place for them, too.

Legislation would protect unclaimed money for

At any point in time there is $850 million to $900 million in unclaimed money that is owed to Louisiana citizens.

Our dedicated employees work hard to return this money every day, but as fast as we give it back, we collect more from businesses.

What many may not realize is the state operates the Unclaimed Property Program similar to an IOU.

In a given year, the Department of Treasury may collect around $88 million in unclaimed property, returning around $30 million to citizens.

So what happens to the remaining $50 million?

After paying $15 million on I-49 bonds, your government spends the remaining $35 million on operating expenses.

I want to wean the state off of using this money.

After all, government takes enough out of your wallet as it is. In order to stop government from spending money that is owed to you, I am proposing we set up a trust fund to protect unclaimed property receipts while addressing infrastructure needs across the state.

This Legislative session, our office will be working with legislative leaders to propose legislation to protect unclaimed property for taxpayers.

We successfully passed similar legislation last year (HB 900).

Unfortunately, the bill was vetoed by the Governor so we are bringing it back up.

The bill would set up a revolving loan bank in connection with a constitutionally protected Unclaimed Property Trust Fund.

The principal of the fund would be protected and readily available when people come to claim their unclaimed money, as it should be.

In return, the earnings on the fund's investments could be used to make low interest loans to local governments to help fund services and infrastructure projects, such as clean water or sewerage needs.

The bill would be especially beneficial for communities that may not qualify for the state's Capital Outlay program.

Our estimates show investment earnings on an Unclaimed Property support fund are projected to reach $30 million annually after Year 20.

Assuming deposits of $30 million a year from Unclaimed Property and an investment structure similar to the Louisiana Education Quality Trust Fund (LEQTF), we could loan local governments roughly $13 million a year in 10 years and $37 million a year in 25 years.

To prove this concept can work, look at the LEQTF which supports K-12 and higher education.

The fund has grown from $540 million to $1.4 billion over the past three decades.

Over this same time period, the fund has generated $1.7 billion in earnings to fund research and education projects statewide.

We are optimistic that similar results could be generated through an Unclaimed Property trust fund.

Another successful program is operated through the Georgia Environmental Finance Authority (GEFA).

In 2017, local governments using GEFA financing saved $3 million in interest costs over the life of an average 20-year loan.

We will keep you posted as we move ahead on this legislation, and we would appreciate your support in this endeavor. We look forward to keeping you updated throughout this process.

The council also signed off on a $541,276 project to extend Rue la Cannes Drive, also awarded to the same engineering firm. Plans call for a 1,270-foot extension of the road.

Park plans call for a main paved area, decorative brick pavers, sidewalk, benches, pavilion, splash area, chain link fence, landscaping and water fountains for humans and dogs.

Hahnville resident Milton Allemand called the park a “want” rather than a “need” with funding better spent on levees. Estimating the project’s price tag at $430,000, Allemand asked the council to reconsider the move.

“We’re going to spend a half-million dollars on a dog park?” he told the council. Allemand further questioned the amenities, location and particularly the cost, maintaining it could be done for half the price. “Let’s do right by our people. This is crazy.”

But Clulee said she was voting for it. Both she and Park plans call for a main paved area, sidewalk, benches, pavilion and splash area near the St. Charles Parish Animal Shelter in Luling.

Councilwoman Wendy Benedetto said constituents have asked for this project for several years.

Foret added the park site is a good one being near the Animal Shelter.

Last year, Animal Shelter Supervisor Jena Troxler said the location would be ideal being adjacent the shelter, which would allow having an employee there daily to assist with animal behavior and ensure it runs smoothly.

Troxler said, she along with parish officials, toured other parks to identify park features.

She called the project “a great resource for our community” and added it would be heavily trafficked with it being the parish’s first dog park. Animals are not allowed in the bridge parks, so many dog owners walk them on the levee.

The Animal Shelter has been holding “Paw-ties” at $50 each to help fund the park. The St. Charles Parish Humane Society has been accepting donations for it.

8:45 p.m., he said.

Once the fire team entered the home, they found the first floor was clear, but there was heavy smoke and high heat conditions on the second floor. A heavy fire was found in the attic, which was quickly extinguished, Petit said, but a smaller fire continued burning near a fire place; that fire’s location, in the corner of hip roof construction, made it difficult to totally extinguish the fire. Access holes were cut into the roof and helped ultimately put the fire down.

Petit said there was heavy fire, smoke and water damage found in the attic and full upstairs area. The bottom floor had incurred light damage from smoke and water.

A resident of the home asked not to be identified for the story, but did convey to other residents of the subdivision via Facebook that the damage to the home is substantial and will require a complete tear down of the roof structure and everything within the home, leaving only the brick walls and studs.

She said it’s estimated the process would take between six months to a year to complete.

ESCAPE

same owner, which might explain why the two escaped through a hole in the fence on the property, he said.

“The horses are fine,” Naquin said. “It was a big team effort. Everyone pitched in.”

It was fortunate they escaped in broad daylight with better visibility and less traffic on the highway, he said. But Naquin said their escape defied logic with them getting through the fence and crossing a ditch full of water to make it to the highway nearby.

“I have no clue why they wanted to get there so bad,” Naquin said. “They had been turned out about 9 or 9:30 a.m. The pasture has a lot more to offer. We feed them everyday.”

Naquin said it took teamwork to capture the horses, but everyone helped and they were safely recovered.

He thanked everyone on his Facebook page, “RNR would like to thank everyone involved in the awesome job getting the horse’s back safely and the fences repaired quickly.”

Rock N Ranch

- The Rock N Ranch provides training, boarding and riding lessons.
- Owner Steve Naquin says the farm is an economic boost to the area.
- The farm has been described as an amazing place with people who have a huge passion for horses.

and the disease is usually fatal. Distemper is not the same disease as rabies although some symptoms are similar. LDWF advises that children and pets be kept away from sick raccoons and other wildlife. Even though the animal may appear calm, they can become aggressive if approached too closely.

LDWF also advises to discourage raccoons from surroundings to remove what attracts them and feed pets indoors. If feeding outdoors, bring in feed bowls right after pets have eaten. Secure garbage cans so they can’t enter them to feed, and don’t feed them intentionally that could attract more of them and spread the disease.

What is distemper?

- Distemper causes symptoms such as seizures, which can increase the chances of a bite when close to these animals.
- If an animal is seen acting abnormally around humans, call animal control.
- The disease is spread in droplets to dogs. Vaccination is essential.

COMMUNITY ED

“You’re never too young or too old to learn.”

The idea behind the program is to ensure lifelong learning opportunities for people of all ages, including community members and those living outside of it.

Among the courses offered are guitar, ceramics, wreath making, musical theatre and fitness, line dance, East and West Coast Swing, photography classes and creative writing for adults. Someone can begin learning to speak French in one room, while learning to cook Cajun cuisine or Italian cookies in another. There are exercise classes as well as those dealing with finances.

Those with pets might enjoy puppy and dog obedience classes. Musical theatre is a popular course Tate counts among the program’s unique offerings, while another is beekeeping.

Though the program is based in St. Charles Parish, it is in no way limited to only its residents.

“We get asked all the time if it’s only for St. Charles, and it’s absolutely not,” Tate said. “It’s a service to our community but also to everyone who may want to take the classes. And we’ve seen a big increase in registration, so we’re very excited.”

The teachers for the courses also come from all over.

“We have classes for ages three and up ... we’ve had some 97 year olds taking the classes. You’re never too young or too old to learn.”
- Jayne Tate

“We have them coming from Belle Chasse, Lockport ... it’s amazing. You do get paid for teaching the classes, so if anyone has a hobby they want to share, we love to bring in newcomers to our team,” she said.

To register for classes, one may visit www.stcharles.k12.la.us/communityed and fill out a registration form, which can be e-mailed, faxed, mailed or delivered in person to the School Board office.

Community Education

- Those with an artistic side to them may be interested in some of the painting, crafts and hobbies, music, needlework, photography or writing courses offered.

- Looking to save money, or have your money make more money? The financial classes may be for you, as well those in the business and careers section.

- Off to a late start on that New Year’s resolution to shed a few pounds? The exercise, health and well-being and fitness clubs are likely up your alley, as might be dance, if you’ve got the moves—or simply want to learn a few more.

- And once you exercise ... you can eat! There are culinary courses for those looking to make it happen in the kitchen.

These are not just images he sells, but memories of landmarks that shaped a community or town.

“When I go into an area, I look for significant structures,” Routh said. “In Des Allemands, it was that grocery, the volunteer fire department and the Smile Inn. Those are places that meant something to people. The structure was part of community life.”

Routh loves to draw, but he also wants to record history with a pencil instead of a camera. He wants all the details he can capture, which can be seen in his other sketches of landmarks in St. Charles Parish.

In addition to Des Allemands, he’s drawn the parish courthouse in Hahnville and Destrehan Plantation in Destrehan.

He also draws buildings he considers good design in the past.

Routh added, “I’m trying to capture as many of these places that mean something to people.”

Places People Remember

- Stan Routh has drawn three locations in Des Allemands as part of his “Places People Remember” series.
- He has nearly 5,000 images of historic locations in Louisiana, which he has been making since the 1950s.
- The Smile Inn was located on the Old Spanish Trail.

African Americans

Making A

DIFFERENCE

in St.
Charles Parish

As part of Black History Month, the St. Charles Herald-Guide is recognizing African Americans who are making a difference in St. Charles Parish.

They are among this community's movers and shakers, serving as leaders, mentors and teachers, who recognized a need and stepped in to fill it no matter the challenge.

Read their stories about self-sacrifice, generosity and determination in bettering St. Charles Parish and its people.

Robert
BROWN

Assistant Director of St. Charles Parish
Parks and Recreation

PROFESSIONAL ACHIEVEMENTS:

Brown has been in his position for 24 years and has volunteered with the recreation department for almost 40. He was named the 2018 Under Armour Junior Coach of the Year for Louisiana and honored at a New Orleans Pelicans game in 2018.

REACHING THE YOUTH:

“It’s very special to be involved with something you love ... I’ve coached kids and now have their kids coming into the program. The most rewarding part is to see when these kids grow up to be young adults. You see kids grow up, and you try to instill values in them. Then later on, you see them teaching their kids the same things. In essence, the game never changes.”

STAYING POSITIVE:

“I always try to be positive. Just stay on the kids and try to influence them to do the right things. People are people, and so much comes down to character. That’s what people ultimately try to judge you by.”

BEING A MENTOR IS HIS PURPOSE:

“I feel like we all have a purpose in life. I feel like this is mine ... being a mentor and showing kids they can find success, not only as athletes but in school, in your faith and in life.”

BROWN CALLED ASSET TO PARISH:

Parish President Larry Cochran: “I’ve watched Robert coach and mentor young kids for a number of years and have seen these kids go on to play professional sports, complete college and be productive citizens because of his influence. Robert is more than deserving for this recognition and has been a tremendous asset to our Parks and Recreation Department.”

Le’Neshia Ross
MARKEY

Sixth-grade teacher,
Albert Cammon Middle School

PROFESSIONAL ACHIEVEMENTS:

Markey, a teacher at Albert Cammon, worked along with the United Way of St. Charles, Subway, Phillips Tutoring Services and Math Tutor On Call to provide free school supplies, food and books, as well as swim safety tips for families at the Back to School Splash at the Ellington Swim Club.

BEACON OF LEARNING:

Describing St. Charles Parish Public Schools (SCPPS) as “one of the beacons of effective teaching and learning in Louisiana,” she said SCPPS does not simply say triple A, but functions every day to ensure students receive the most effective academic, art and athletic instruction in the state.

HELPING THE COMMUNITY:

Markey has been assisting ‘the Sisters’ (the Revs. Shirley Sims and Ivy Williams) with their efforts to bring awareness to domestic violence for several years as a board member of A Safe Space of St. Charles. She also helps J.E.W.E.L.S (Joyful Extraordinary Women Empowering our Little Sisters) mentoring organization. Its creators, Carla Scott-Strickland and Dr. LaDadriel Eastmann, have shown younger generations there is a different path to success than what the media portrays to them. She has served in various capacities in sustaining the brilliance in youths. Markey also is a recently initiated member of the River Parishes Alumnae chapter of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority working under the tenets of scholarship, sisterhood and service.

AN AMBASSADOR:

“One day, I hope to have the opportunity to possibly represent my communities on a larger scale to affect change in a more deliberate manner. I am an ambassador and servant of God so I do what is required of me.”

‘A HEART FOR SERVING OTHERS’:

Adrienne Bourgeois, interim public information officer, St. Charles Parish: “Once you get a glimpse of her heart your life is changed forever. Her laughter is contagious and her heart for serving those in need is so refreshing. She has contributed to the parish for years as a dedicated and passionate educator.”

INCLUSION & DIVERSITY

At Dow, we lead with inclusion because without an inclusive workplace, diversity is just a numbers game instead of being a powerful force for Dow winning in the marketplace.

To hold ourselves accountable, we measure and track our progress on these goals – and to demonstrate to others that our commitment to inclusion and diversity is backed by meaningful actions and results.

McKinley
DAY

Louisiana State Trooper and United Way volunteer

PROFESSIONAL ACHIEVEMENTS:

Day became a state trooper in 2004 after 20 years with the U.S. Navy. He moved to St. Charles Parish in 2001 along with his wife, Nicole, a parish native, and the two have remained driven to make a positive difference in the community in any way possible. Day is a member of the United Way of St. Charles Board of Directors and on the strategic planning committee for Access Health.

STANDING UNITED:

“The big ones everyone knows of with United Way are the Bridge Run and Battle for the Paddle, but there are so many small things people don’t hear about, like book reading programs for little kids, collaboration with Catholic Charities and the ARC, building ramps for the disabled in their homes. I’m proud to be a part of it.”

FINDING NEW WAYS TO HELP:

“I’m a new board member with Access Health ... I’m learning. I have zero healthcare background, but I thought it would be a great opportunity when I was asked to lend what knowledge I do have in that area. I’m fortunate, being retired from the military, to have great health insurance ... I know a lot of people aren’t as blessed. It’s a chance to see what challenges we have, both locally and regionally, regarding health care in their lives, and see what improvements we can make to help those people.”

STILL SERVING A DUTY:

“You know, it sounds cliché, but as the old adage goes, to whom much is given, much is required. It’s not just me, but my wife as well. We’ve purposed in our heart that we’ve been given a lot, truly blessed, and we want to give back to those who might need a hand.”

LEAVING A POSITIVE IMPRINT:

John Diaz, United Way of St. Charles Executive Director: “I have known McKinley Day for 11 years, and his impact on United Way is the same as his impact has been on our community. McKinley has been a thoughtful and energetic leader who is willing to not only make big picture policy decisions, but also to roll his sleeves up and work to make our community a better place.”

#FueledBy Community

Congratulations to the honorees.

Shonda H.
HARRIS

Principal, St. Rose Elementary School

PROFESSIONAL ACHIEVEMENTS:

Harris, 40, of Boutte, considers three blessings as her awards: Her childhood friend who turned into her high school sweetheart and husband, Noel Harris; becoming a mother on Dec. 23, 2007 with the birth of her daughter, Jacie Noelle, and being named a principal in 2017.

A SERVANT LEADER:

“I serve my community by volunteering in my church for various activities including working with the church’s marriage ministry, volunteering my time outside of my normal work or church obligations and donating resources to families in need. Serving others is what matters to me.”

SUCCESSES:

After graduating from Nicholls State University in 2001, Harris started teaching fifth grade at Norco Elementary School. With four years in the classroom, she set her aspirations on becoming an administrator and went to Southeastern University in December of 2007 where she earned a master’s degree in educational leadership. She became an administrative assistant at Allemands Elementary and was promoted to assistant principal at R.K. Smith Middle School for 6-1/2 years before being named principal at St. Rose Elementary School.

HER LEGACY:

“I intend to do what God has planned for me. I would like to continue to serve my community in whatever capacity I can and leave a legacy that will be remembered forever by the people I touch.”

LEADING BY EXAMPLE:

Superintendent Felecia Gomez-Walker: “Ms. Harris is making a positive difference in our school system and community. She leads by example and displays the characteristics of a servant leader who is dedicated to enriching the lives of her students, staff and those in the community.”

At Shell, diversity means valuing all the ways we differ because they create individual perspectives and unique contributions aligned with our core values of honesty, integrity and respect for people. TOGETHER, we embrace our diversity to create exceptional results which benefit the business, our colleagues, and the communities where we live and work.

We recognize and congratulate these individuals for their work and contributions to ‘Make a Difference’ in our community each and every day.

“Diversity is the one true thing we all have in common.

Celebrate it every day.”

— AUTHOR UNKNOWN

Lolita Tillery
GRANT

Engineer, DOW

PROFESSIONAL ACHIEVEMENTS:

Grant is a volunteer and mentor in the Dow STEM Ambassador Program, a volunteer with St. Charles Parish Public Schools and the United Way of St. Charles, and a mentor for several Dow employees. She has served as Implementation Leader of the Dow African-American Network (AAN) for multiple consecutive years. As an Implementation Leader, she has fostered collaboration with other site AAN chapters. She promotes diversity programming and engagement sessions at the Dow St. Charles site.

PAYING IT FORWARD:

“My commitment to volunteering and mentoring are a direct result of my career path. At each phase of my education and employment, I had people who were willing to devote their time, effort, and resources to further my development. I would like to offer others the same benefits of strong mentoring through my talent and experience in the hope that they will offer their abilities to the next generation and the cycle continues. It is my commitment to ‘Pay It Forward.’”

IT TAKES A VILLAGE:

“As a single mother of three that has lost a house to Hurricane Isaac in 2012, I fully understand the impact of how it sometimes ‘takes a village to raise a child.’ I have had help through my family, friends and community throughout the years and I intend to always be available to give back in kind. Whatever job I am in, wherever I live and whatever personal things I am going through, I intend to be a valued part of the community I am in.”

EMPOWERING YOUNG MINDS:

“My ultimate goal is to empower young minds and expose them to the beauty of STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering and Math).”

SHINING EXAMPLE OF TRUE DEDICATION:

Egypt Eaddy - Dow Chemical Public Affairs:
“Lolita is a star STEM ambassador and representation of Dow. She continues to make an impact and difference in our community and is a shining example of true dedication to student and employee success.”

George
DUNMILES

Mentor and youth recreation coach

PROFESSIONAL ACHIEVEMENTS:

Dunmiles has coached young people for 30 years, his longtime efforts with the St. Charles Recreation Department blending with his work coaching his AAU club, the River Region Raptors. Through it all, the Hahnville High alum’s goal is to ensure his players become winners in life, more than anything accomplished on the court.

TOP PRIORITY:

“Teaching young people to have integrity is the biggest thing. If people say your name, you want them to say it in a good way and not a bad way, that people know you do what you’re supposed to do. Lead by example and represent yourself in the proper way. When you do those things, you’ll give yourself the best chance to be successful in life.”

A LONGTIME CALLING:

“Ever since I was out of high school, I’ve been involved in coaching. I even refereed on the side ... dealing with kids on a daily basis, it’s my way of giving back. Not just coaching, but mentoring as well for those who need guidance and help. Teaching the ways to go about making it in the classroom, getting to college, handling situations in the right manner ... any advice or direction they may need.”

THE GREATEST REWARD:

“When someone comes back who I’ve coached, and they’re a dad now and they ask me how I’ve been, and I see they’re coaching now... they’re teaching now. I’ve actually gotten to coach against them and I see them doing good for others. They’ll tell me, ‘thank you for what you did for me.’ There’s no better feeling.”

“Life’s more persistent and urgent question is, ‘What are you doing for others?’”

Realtor and head of the Paul Maillard Community Development Corp.

THE DREAM TEAM:

As a child, she envisioned having space for youth in the parish – located on Paul Maillard Road.
“Today, this dream has exceeded all of my expectations and allows us an amazing opportunity to recreate a place that thrives with business development, housing options, community spaces and, most importantly, provides a safe roadway complete with sidewalks for pedestrians and cyclist in a more immediate future. We have some of the greatest people I have met in the parish spearheading an effort to bring a revitalization plan to fruition. Leaders in the administration, stakeholders, and residents came together to share their ideas and goals for this once thriving community and major transportation corridor in St. Charles Parish, and now we get to pull together the resources to implement the plan.”

HUMBLED AND GROUNDED:

“Serving others keeps you humble and grounded. I have met so many people over the years and some of the seeds I planted years ago when I volunteered have manifested into awesome career opportunities. Volunteering for the Aaron Brooks Family Foundation immediately after college opened the door to me being the director of public relations and community outreach within months. Positions have been created for me and doors opened because I believe my heart was always to serve others.”

SUCSESSES:

As a member of Keller Williams Realty, Fields-Pierre praised the firm for its core values - God first, family second and business third- that has allowed her to live by her values. “I don’t have to compromise who I am nor make excuses for my children being a major part of my business model. I have found a way to incorporate my heart’s desire and provide for my family. I am able to help families achieve their personal goals of home ownership.”

‘REALISTIC OPTIMISM’:

As she moves ahead, Fields-Pierre said her outlook will remain focused on “realistic optimism” aimed at bringing our community together across age, cultural, gender, racial, religious and socio-economic barriers. “We are all connected in one way or another and if we can look for the good or find the good in someone else, we would be so much further than we are right now.”

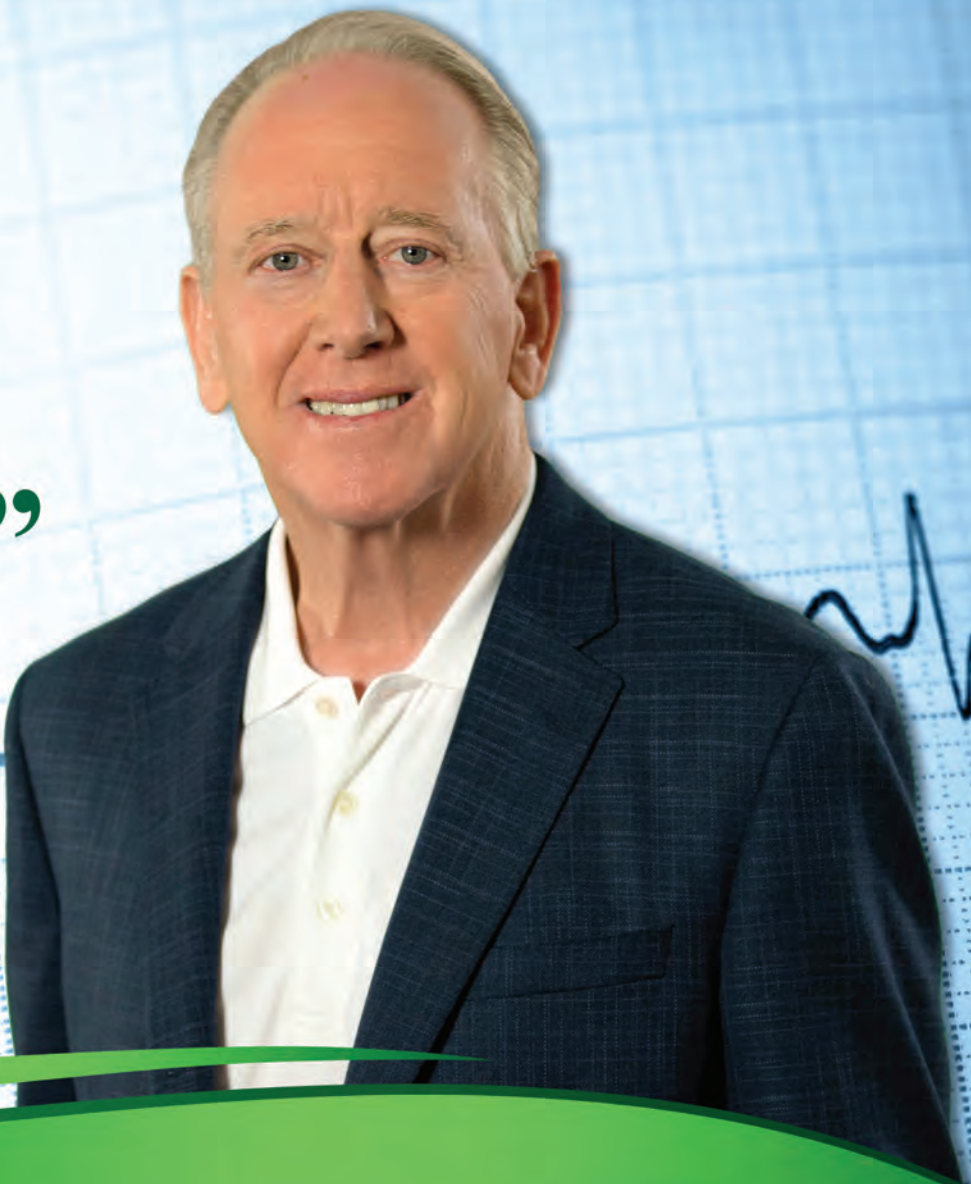

MAKING IT HAPPEN:

Councilwoman Mary Clulee: “Ms. Fields continues to work diligently to make the Paul Maillard Revitalization a reality.”

Donnie
WHITE

District 4 Constable and Second Harvest volunteer

PROFESSIONAL ACHIEVEMENTS:

Lifelong St. Charles resident and parish constable works with Second Harvest twice a month to give out food to low income families in the community. The gardener and avid fisherman also freely gives the products of those efforts to feed others.

CALLED TO HELP OTHERS:

“I always have had that feeling from giving ... it’s like a release, a chill that goes through my body. I want to help people who can’t afford to go out and do the things I do. I feel like helping others is what God wanted me to do.”

HAS MORE TO GIVE BACK:

Was elected constable in his first attempt, though he was first skeptical about running. “My uncle, Morris White, said I need to get involved with politics. I wasn’t sure about that at first, but sure enough in the end I wound up running and here I am in my second term ... it just meant I had more to give back, so I had to share.”

CALLS HIS SERVICE A DREAM COME TRUE:

“Being constable represents service to me. Being a public servant, making people happy and keeping people happy. To be where I am right now, it’s like a dream come true. I never thought I’d be to this level.”

Maj. Alvin
ROBINSON

Warden at Nelson Coleman Correctional Center

PROFESSIONAL ACHIEVEMENTS:

Has been with the St. Charles Parish Sheriff’s Office for the past 22 years and is an instrumental part of programs aimed at rehabilitating inmates, including GED and Project Transition.

ENCOURAGES THE RIGHT PATH:

“Recidivism is a bit part of corrections ... those who are repeat offenders, who are in and out, we call them frequent fliers. We always try to encourage them to take the right path in life. Make the right choices, and you do have those choices.”

FAMILY IS IMPORTANT:

“We hold a graduation ceremony and invite their parents to come in and witness the achievements of their loved ones. We try to instill in the offenders that ‘Hey, your family is still behind you. All this is still here for you. Go out and be who you need to be.’”

St. ROSE IS ‘GOD’S COUNTRY’:

Lives in St. Rose, where he grew up. “We call it God’s Country. I hope that for the youngsters in my neighborhood, they see something positive I’m doing and see that if I can do this, you can as well!”

Connects with offenders, employees on personal level:

St. Charles Parish Chief Rodney Madere: “Major Robinson is a prominent member of the community. He takes a personal interest in knowing the people he comes into contact with and building relationships with them. As warden of the correctional facility, this benefits his position because he can better connect with employees as well as offenders on a more personal level, which creates a mutual respect. Without a doubt, Major Robinson is an immeasurable asset, not only to our Sheriff’s Office, but our entire community.”

Bayer would like to honor those who Make a Difference in their communities. We would also like to thank our Bayer Luling employees for volunteering thousands of hours in the local community in 2018.

Dr. Monica J.R.
WILLIAMS

Physician, Ochsner Primary Care in Destrehan

PROFESSIONAL ACHIEVEMENTS:

Williams, 49, of Destrehan and native of Philadelphia, Penn., attended the Philadelphia High School for Girls and graduated from Tuskegee University in Tuskegee, Ala. with a degree in biology. She attended Meharry Medical College in Nashville, and went on to complete her residency in Houston in family medicine.

COMMUNITY:

“I enjoy working with all ages and I have enjoyed volunteering my time to speak at fitness centers such as Anytime Fitness, service organizations such as the Rotary Club, plants in the community, and my sorority, Delta Sigma Theta Sorority. I also have done community talks at the Ochsner St. Charles Parish Hospital.”

PASSION:

Williams’ recognitions include awards for Redesign of Clinic Workflow, as well as most recently the Teaching Excellence Award for General Practice for 2018 at Ochsner. But she also readily adds she doesn’t do what she does for awards, but welcomes knowing “that someone has felt the love that I so passionately try to share.” She is also passionate about mentoring students, and engages her own children in living a life of service.

ACT OF HEALING:

“I believe that there is healing in the act of giving; healing for the recipient and for the giver. Everyone needs to know that they matter and when you give back to others you learn that your small part can change someone else’s life. As well, the person on the receiving end is reminded that they are important enough that someone stopped what they were doing to care about how they were doing. Kindness, compassion, and empathy cost nothing to give and we are free to give it.”

IMPROVING HEALTH:

Dr. Victoria Smith, associate medical director, St. Charles Parish Hospital: “Dr. Monica Williams is committed to improving the health of her patients and very invested in the St. Charles community in which she resides. Dr. Williams has enthusiastically done health promotion talks and activities in the St. Charles community. From speaking at the Rotary to teaching kindergarten students how to properly wash their hands, Dr. Williams demonstrates her commitment to the health of the St. Charles community. Dr. Williams is also a committed educator of future health care providers. She was recently awarded the General Practice Teacher of the Year from the University of Queensland/ Ochsner Clinical School.”

Landon Marceaux excels in Opening Weekend Start

Destrehan alum now a key starter for LSU Tigers rotation

“He’s been a college pitcher since he got to high school. He’s one of those special kids you don’t see very often”

- Destrehan coach Chris Mire

By Ryan Arena
Sports Editor
ryana@heraldguide.com

Don’t count Destrehan coach Chris Mire among anyone surprised that Landon Marceaux would be tabbed for an opening weekend start in the LSU rotation, despite Marceaux’s status as true freshman.

“I’ve gotten a lot of text messages and questions like ‘Really? Opening weekend?’ And my reaction is, ‘Why are you surprised?’ He made the Olympic team. He’s one of the top guys in the country. He’s just that good.”

Marceaux certainly looked the part Saturday in his first-ever collegiate start. He hurled 5.2 innings against Army, allowing one run on two hits while striking out five, helping LSU earn an eventual 6-5 victory. That was a continuation of a dominant spring in which he allowed three hits and no runs while striking out 17 over 10.2 exhibition innings.

Mire, a graduate of LSU and lifelong Tigers fan, said it’s exciting in numerous ways to watch his former ace living a dream in Purple and Gold.

When Marceaux was at Destrehan, Mire often noted how poised and mature Marceaux was when he arrived at the school as a freshman. While some pitchers have raw stuff and others strong command, Marceaux came armed with both, and he understood how to use those weapons once taking the mound. It was a rare gift for such a young pitcher.

“He’s been a college pitcher since he got to high school,” Mire said. “He’s one of those special kids you don’t see very often. He has this great understanding of how to use his pitches and how to command them, and when you have the stuff he has and the command to go with it ...”

Mire paused.

“He just has ‘it,’” he concluded. “He has the it. He’s built for this.”

He established himself as one of the greatest to put on a Destrehan uniform during his time there. Marceaux’s ERA was just a shade over 1.00 for his career at the school to go with three saves, 168.1 innings pitched, 239 strikeouts and 31 walks.

The right-hander was named District 7-5A Pitcher of the Year after a dominating senior campaign. He was so advanced and accomplished early in his DHS tenure that he earned an offer from LSU before his sophomore season. He committed to the Tigers in 2015 and at the time was rated one of the 40 top sophomore baseball players in America by PerfectGame.org and the best in Louisiana.

As a selection for the 18U USA Baseball team, he helped spur his team to a the World Cup victory during his senior year. He was selected in the 37th round of the MLB Draft by the New York Yankees, but after reflection he opted to forgo the pros for at least a year and pitch for LSU.

Marceaux’s gifts have bred a great air of confidence about him on the mound, something Mire attributes to his great preparation and work ethic, as well as his big game experience even before his prep days.

*6-foot, 190 pound right-hander was a World Cup champion who made an impact for the 18U National Team during his senior year at Destrehan.
*Rose to become the No. 1 rated player in Louisiana for the prep Class of 2018.
*Selected by the New York Yankees, but chose to delay going pro and pitch for LSU.
*Two-time All-State selection had an ERA just above 1 for his career at the school, including a sophomore season that saw him set the program’s single-season record with a 0.64 mark.

“This is a kid who has put in hours and hours and hours of refining his craft and learning so that when he takes the mound, regardless of who he’s up against, he knows what he can do and he believes in himself,” Mire said.

“To most people, that isn’t something that comes natural. He was fortunate to get a taste of success early on ... when we faced higher level competition, it wasn’t really a challenge for him. Against top competition, we saw the lights go on and him take it up another notch. And that’s when you saw how truly special he is.”

That said, pitching against Division I competition and in the SEC as a freshman, Mire acknowledges Marceaux may have to deal with something he hasn’t had to in the past.

“He’ll probably get a taste of failure for maybe the first time in his life, and he’ll have to adjust and learn from those times he does struggle,” Mire said. “That’ll be the biggest challenge for him really. But the stage, I definitely don’t see that being too big for him. I don’t think he’ll be outmatched or in awe of any opponent.”

Tigers confident in spite of grad losses

By Ryan Arena
Sports Editor
ryana@heraldguide.com

Hahnville softball coach Jerry Nugent understands why his Lady Tigers might be a little underestimated by those outside the program. After all, Hahnville lost a large core group from last year’s Class 5A finalist that rewrote the school record books and found itself ranked among national powers.

So, yes, Nugent understands why others might have lower expectations for the 2019 Tigers — he just doesn’t agree with that outlook.

“I think everyone’s underestimating our team ... we had such a strong group last year,”

Nugent said. “But when you have a strong group like that, it also means a lot of talented kids have had to wait their turn behind them. I’m excited to show what we’re about.

“A lot of the faces have changed, but the expectations within our program are still there.”

Three starters return from last season’s powerhouse, all seniors. They’re led by short-stop Bayleigh Baudouin, a returning All-State and District MVP 7-5A selection that dominates with both her bat and glove. Centerfielder Melissa Allemand and right fielder Hannah Borne join her, bringing plenty of ability and big game experience with them.

A fourth senior starter is a newcomer to the starting lineup, and a very important one: pitcher Anna Faucheux, who succeeds Karly Taranto as the team’s ace on the mound.

“All of them have really embraced the leadership role we need from them,” Nugent said. “It was probably a lot easier to be a leader when we had so many last year, this group has taken it upon themselves. They’re taking the younger players under their wing.”

Defensively, Nugent said the team looks strong, despite the group’s relative newness together.

The team’s offensive firepower, he said, is yet to be fully determined.

New look Wildcats kick off season

By Ryan Arena
Sports Editor
ryana@heraldguide.com

Though 10 seniors are returning for Destrehan this season, the Wildcats will still be looking to garner some key game experience for players throughout its lineup and rotation, including a number of those seniors getting the chance to start for the first time.

“A lot of these guys are being asked to play for the first time,” said Destrehan coach Chris Mire. “But they’ve been in our dugout. They’ve seen the ups and the downs and I think these guys have a good idea of what to expect.”

Run production is one area Mire believes must take a step forward this season. With dominant pitchers like Landon Marceaux and Bryce Scioneaux anchoring the rotation in recent years, hunting a big inning of offense carried less weight than maximizing the chance to plate at least one run, which could prove the difference in a low-scoring game.

“I think we have some quality arms, but we definitely had those upper-tier guys last year. It makes life a whole lot easier when your offense doesn’t have to score as many runs, when you get those double digit strikeouts and don’t have to make as many plays in the field,” Mire said. “We’re gonna have to help our guys out a little more than we did last year.”

He also said defensively, there’s work to do, though he believes his group will come together as everyone gets comfortable in new roles.

But not everyone has to adjust to a new position. Avery Schexnaydre and T.J. Thomas return and look to be cornerstones of the Wildcats this season. The two returning starters hold down the left side of the infield and have been the pitching staff’s most consistent producers so far. Offensively, they’ve taken things up a notch and power the heart of the team’s batting order.

“Those two are definitely our catalysts,” Mire said. “They’ve been our best guys all the way around.”

Injury enabled Dylan Weber to showcase his skills last season, and he returns as the team’s starting catcher.

“He’s a really good receiver and blocker for us,”

Ryan Arena/Herald Guide

Avery Schexnaydre will be counted on in 2019.

Mire said. “He’s been handling our staff well. Catcher’s a good spot to have an experienced guy returning for sure.”

Max Jacobs is a player that appears primed for an offensive breakthrough after a strong summer season and prep preseason.

“He’s very consistent. He’s giving us quality at-bats in the middle of our lineup,” Mire said. “We’ll be counting on him to continue that and help us drive in some runs.”

DESTREHAN 2, SULPHUR 0 —The Wildcats got off to a strong start to the regular season by posting a victory over a quality foe on the road, defeating host Sulphur behind T.J. Thomas, Avery Schexnaydre and Gage Harding, who combined to throw seven scoreless, two-hit innings.

Cade Tramuta and Josh Vicknair drove in the runs for Destrehan (1-0), both coming in the fourth inning.

Thomas (1-0) struck out five, walked two and allowed no hits in his four innings of work to earn the win. Schexnaydre (1) earned a save by pitching two scoreless innings to close things. Harding struck out two in his inning of work.

Wildcats fall in tight second round match

By Ryan Arena
Editor
ryana@heraldguide.com

A Beau Chene goal with 12 minutes left in regulation eventually forced a sudden death overtime period in its round two Division II playoff match against Destrehan, where the Gators’ Adrian Eaglin scored to propel his team to a 2-1 victory and trip to the quarterfinals.

It brought to an end a strong season by a young 13th seeded Wildcats (12-6-1) team that surged into the playoffs.

Beau Chene (15-4-7), the No. 4 seed last year’s Division II state runner-up, advanced to play Caddo Magnet in the quarterfinals and earned a 2-0 victory to reach the semi-finals, where it was bested by top seed Holy Cross, 2-1.

“We knew it would be a hard game, but the boys were ready for it,” said Destrehan coach Jhovanny Santamaria. “They were ready and they played so hard ... we were this close. I don’t know that Beau Chene expected that kind of game.”

Indeed, Destrehan led 1-0 at halftime on a penalty kick in the box by Michael Ehrmann. Destrehan rode a wave of momentum into the second half until Beau Chene got loose in the second half to tie.

The game winner in overtime came on a counterattack by forward Adrian Eaglin.

“He’s one of the best players we’ve ever faced, I’d say,” Santamaria said. “He’s extremely fast but he’s strong as well. Once he got one on one there was nothing either the goalkeeper or defender could really do.”

Against Beau Chene, Destrehan came close to scoring the upset by keeping possession of the ball and working the middle of the field.

“We probably kept the ball 60 percent of the time,” Santamaria said.

But control of the game was lost on the Gators’ score near the end of regulation on a free kick.

“They had no life and we kind of gave them life on that one,” Santamaria said. “They had a lot of chances in the second half ... that’s a really fast team that can get in position in a hurry.”

Though the season is over, Santamaria was proud of a team that won its district and overcame a brief midseason rough patch to surge into the playoffs with a 13 seed. More good news for the program: Destrehan will see most of this team return next season, with just one senior among its starters.

“We were ranked 32 at one point this season and our guys went to work,” Santamaria said. “We said, let’s just make it to the playoffs and see. Then we had a chance to win district, and we took it. It was a great season by a very young team of guys with a bright future.”

Dementia group organized in St. Charles Parish

By Anna Thibodeaux
Managing Editor
annat@heraldguide.com

After six years of caring for her mother with Alzheimer's disease, Debra Tamplain agreed starting a support group for caretakers was important "because it's not an easy journey."

When the Alzheimer's Association Louisiana Chapter contacted her about it, Tamplain readily agreed to serve as the group's facilitator.

"I just felt it was something to do to help others," Tamplain said.

The Dementia Caregiver Support Group will hold its first meeting in St. Charles Parish at the St. Charles Parish Hospital's Pelican Room on Feb. 26. The group will meet every fourth Tuesday at 6 p.m.

Caretakers can use the meeting to vent or talk to others going through the same situation to let them know they're not all by themselves, Tamplain said.

"It's a very demanding job and not everybody is able to be a caregiver," she said. "It's those special individuals who can do it. It's stressful."

"It's a very demanding job and not everybody is able to be a caregiver."
— Debra Tamplain

St. Charles Parish's first Dementia Caregiver Support Group will hold its first meeting on Feb. 26 at St. Charles Parish Hospital in Luling.

Tamplain sought to provide a place where caregivers can learn with people who can support them, which is something she wished she'd had when caring for her own mother.

"You kind of learn through trial and error," she said. "You learn quick and it was an adventure I never would have thought I was put into."

In Tamplain's case, she didn't want to put her mother in a home so she, her father and part-time help worked as a team to keep her at her home. A part-timer helped them take breaks, which she had to convince her father to take because he felt guilty about leaving his wife. It also allowed Tamplain to take classes on care for dementia patients.

It was fate that she had earlier met a friend who had cared for her mother for 14 years and Tamplain volunteered to help sit with her. It became the basis of knowledge she used to later care for her mother.

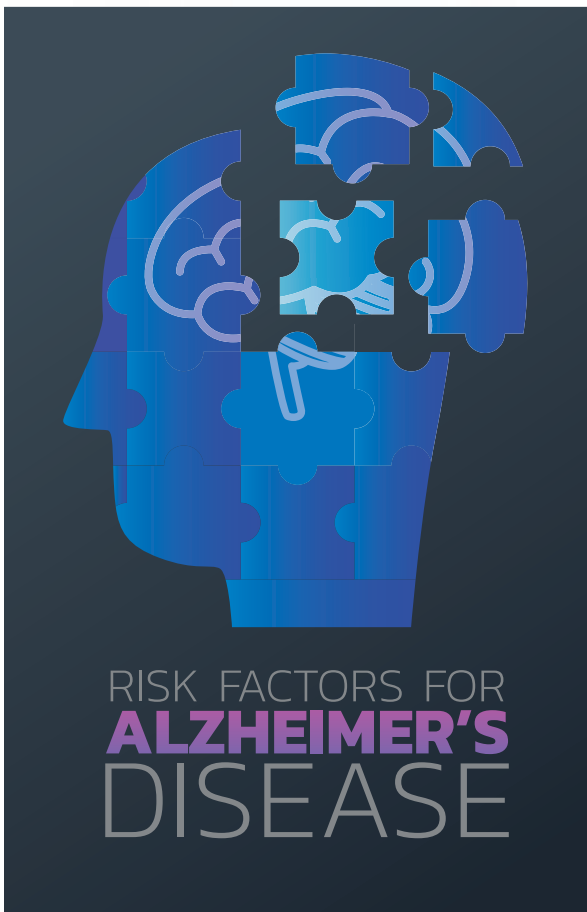

"The whole thing is about education and this disease is not going away soon," she said.

When her own mother was diagnosed with Alzheimer's, Tamplain said life changed considerably.

There were days when her father would call saying, "Can you come over? Your mother doesn't know who I am," Tamplain said, if this wasn't hard enough, it got worse. "As the disease progresses, it's always something different."

This is where the support group can help a caregiver realize it's the disease doing these things and the situation gets a lot better, she said. Being prepared helps deal with this, but the group helps with the hurt and loss.

Tamplain lamented of her own situation, "To see her dwindle away ... this was just like - wow."

Cub Scouts hit top speeds at 15th annual Pinewood Derby

More than 45 Cub Scouts and their families from Pack 317 got their pit passes ready and tuned up their cars for the 15th Annual Pinewood Derby at the St. Charles United Methodist Church Fellowship Hall in Destrehan.

A Cub Scout tradition since the concept was created in 1953 by Cubmaster Don Murphy in Manhattan Beach, Calif., the derby's namesake comes from the basic pine block kits used to create cars for the races. The pack provides each Cub Scout with an official derby car kit with a three-ounce block of pine, plastic wheels and nails that serve as axles. Scouts and their parents then work together to strategically cut, sand, paint and add weight to their cars in order to maximize speed through gravity. To compete, cars must weigh exactly five ounces and not exceed width of the tracks. The goal of the derby is to encourage Cub Scouts and their families to learn and exhibit skills in woodworking, engineering, creativity and sportsmanship.

At the Scout Super Speedway, which included six sleek aluminum downhill track lanes with electronic time chips calculating winners of each heat. Car designs included LSU, a gum ball machine, a hot dog and even Target, the big box store. Scout parents also raced their own cars. Webelos Arrow of Light Den Leader Scott Maronge, the undefeated champion of the parent category for the last several years, once again took the title with his car aptly named, "First Place." When asked the secret to making a champion derby car, Maronge advised, "Besides weight, I find that smoothing and polishing axles and wheel hubs give the best results."

Cub Scouts served their civic duty by voting for their favorites in the creative categories. Creative category winners included Ryan Comeaux for Best Paint Job, Kable Bynum for Fastest Looking and Most Unusual Shape, and James Domangue for Most Patriotic.

Siblings also took creative accolades with Funniest Car went to Miles Delcambre, Best Sports Theme went to Brock Millet, and Most Artistic went to Oliver Henry.

First-place winners included Kameron Fonte, Kable Bynum, Lucas Wagner, Cain Bynum, Ryan Krebs, Landon Lawrence, Joe Fonte and Scott Maronge Jr.; second-place winners included Finn LeBlanc, Cole Armstrong, Christian Galle, Andrew Culver, James Domangue, Scott Maronge III, Evan Delcambre and Melissa LeBeouf; third-place winners included Collin Stewart, Vince LeBlanc, Jr., Benjamin Benoit, Julian Guidry, Miles Delcambre, Wesley Domangue and Andie Savoie. Winners from these categories advance to the River Parish District Pinewood Derby.

Cub Scout Pack 317 is sponsored by St. Charles United Methodist Church in Destrehan and welcomes both boys and girls from kindergarten through fifth grade who live or go to school on the east bank of St. Charles Parish. The pack is comprised of smaller dens for each age group of Cubs—Lions, Tigers, Wolves, Bears, Webelos, and Arrow of Light. An Arrow of Light Scout has earned the highest rank among Cub Scouts and will move on to Boy Scouts in February. For more information about the Pack 317, visit <http://destrehanpack317.scoutlander.com> or facebook.com/destrehanpack317.

Faithful Servant

Are you a faithful servant of our Lord Jesus Christ or are you a luke warm Christian? Too many times we are thinking we are faithful as much as we can, but are we? God is not mocked, whatsoever we sow we shall reap. Whether good or bad our Lord knows everything. No one can fool our God. Let us therefore be faithful unto death & we shall win a crown of life & everlasting life. The joy of the Lord is our strength here & will be in Heaven also. Let us be faithful to our King of Kings & Lord of Lords. It shall pay!

Amen

NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that on February 5, 2019, Atmos Energy Corporation ("Atmos Energy"), a local gas distribution company and public utility providing natural gas service to customers in forty-nine (49) Parishes of the State of Louisiana, filed with the Louisiana Public Service Commission ("LPSC") its Application requesting Consolidation of the Rates and Tariffs of Atmos Energy Corporation's Louisiana Rate Divisions, Trans Louisiana Gas and Louisiana Gas Service (the "Consolidation Application").

In the Consolidation Filing, Atmos Energy is requesting to consolidate the tariff books of its two rate divisions, Trans Louisiana Gas ("Trans La") and Louisiana Gas Service ("LGS"), including the Rate Stabilization Clauses ("RSC's") of each rate division, and charge uniform rates in order to appropriately reflect the fact that Atmos Energy's infrastructure is operated as one system for the benefit of all of Atmos Energy's Louisiana customers. To further ensure that the rates reflect the cost of service of each customer class, Atmos Energy is also requesting to consolidate certain customer classes, to modify its overall rate design, to update special contracts, and to update its facilities fees.

This is a revenue neutral filing, in that Atmos Energy is not requesting an increase in its overall revenue requirement. However, due to the consolidation of the two rate divisions, the reallocation of revenue requirement across customer classes, and the consolidation of various existing customer classes, the relief requested in the Consolidation Application will have the following estimated effect on typical monthly customer bills. For Trans La customers: for Residential Services (RS), a decrease of $2.62 from $43.70 to $41.08; for General Services (GS), a decrease of $13.41 from $258.91 to $245.50; for Large General Service (LGS), a decrease of $4.97 from $6,532.89 to $6,527.92; for Natural Gas Air Conditioning (NGAC), a decrease of $30.87 from $283.07 to $252.20; and for Farm and Agriculture Services (FAS), an increase of $261.56 from $444.54 to $706.09. For LGS customers: for Residential Services (RS), a decrease of $0.29 from $42.32 to $42.03; for Residential Service Air Condition (RS A/C), an increase of $22.74 from $181.85 to $204.59; for Public Housing Service, an increase of $2.17 from $27.39 to $29.56; for General Services (GS), a decrease of $0.71 from $237.77 to $237.06; for Farm & Agriculture Services (FAS), an increase of $287.32 from $799.86 to $1,087.18; and for Large General Service (LGS), an increase of $500.05 from $8,395.61 to $8,895.66. The requested relief will also result in an increase to the typical monthly bills of customers who are currently parties to special contracts.
