‘Historic’ levee agreement will bring protection to East Bank

By Anna Thibodeaux
Managing Editor
annat@heraldguide.com

Calling it a historic agreement 40 years in the making, St. Charles Parish President Larry Cochran said a partnership will finally bring 100-year flood protection to Montz.

Parish officials attended the Feb. 22 signing ceremony, partnering with the Louisiana Coastal Protection and Restoration Authority (CPRA), two other parishes and the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers (USACE) for the West Shore Levee Project at the Pontchartrain Levee District (PLD) Board Office in Lutchter.

The signing marked the start of the engineering and design phase of the levee project, which entails an estimated 18 miles of earthen levees and floodwalls, one mile of which will be located in St. Charles Parish.

For the parish, it represents a section that Cochran calls “a very critical mile” that will start the levee project and extend it into St. John the

A Des Allemands man who was a former manager of the North Kenner Post Office has pleaded guilty to misappropriation of postal funds, months after his arrest for one of the largest internal thefts by an employee in the history of the U.S. Postal Service.

Ryan Cortez, 46, was arrested in October and accused of stealing $630,000 worth of postage stamps and then selling them online. Cortez worked as a manager and customer service supervisor at the branch.

full use since early August - other than the seating in the Shell Theatre, said Ginny Medina-Hamilton, director of Gifted, Talented and the Arts.

“Though performances are an important part of arts education, there is more to the Lafon Arts Center than the performances for the public,” she said. “The first responsibility of the Lafon Arts Center is arts education. There are many other events that have taken place at the center where our students were creating, presenting, performing, responding and connecting through the arts that were not necessarily public performances.”

Theater seating became a problem last year when the manufacturer declared bankruptcy, but Medina-Hamilton said the stage has been used for rehearsals, as well as holiday and community arts events.

John Rome Jr., chief plant services and security officer, said the first shipment of seats has arrived and are being installed. Per the architect and contractor, the next shipment is expected to arrive early this month. The contractor should install remaining components within 15 to 20 days.

DHS alumnus turns loss of hearing into strong voice for cause

By Ryan Arena

Miranda Matisse doesn't feel ashamed or even limited about her hearing loss, but the Destrehan High School alumnus remembers a time that wasn't always the case.

Born prematurely along with her twin sister, the two had each endured numerous ear problems growing up and by the age of 13, Matisse's hearing had deteriorated to the point she needed a hearing aid. A hearing test revealed she was classified as hard of hearing, but the news didn't faze her. Her sister had to have hearing aids by age seven, so as far as Matisse was concerned, this wasn't too far outside the norm.

“Honestly, when I first got my hearing aids, I was pretty excited,” said Matisse, 18. “I felt like, ‘Awesome, I get to be like my sister now!’ So I was excited to tell my friends and they weren't really into it. Some people really didn't talk to me much afterwards. I started to get really self-conscious.”

After initially picking out bright colored hearing aids to stand out and show individuality, she soon found herself almost exclusively wearing her hair down to hide them, a phase that lasted over a year.

Postage Stamp Theft

• The theft of $630,000 in postage stamps is one of the largest internal thefts by an employee in the history of the U.S. Postal Service.

• Ryan Cortez was accused of stealing the postage stamps and then selling them online.

• Cortez apparently confessed that a gambling addiction drove him to commit the act.

Apartment multiplexes coming to Boutte

On the right, the old house next to Hahnville High School will become an apartment complex.

By Anna Thibodeaux
Managing Editor
annat@heraldguide.com

An apartment multiplex project has been approved for Boutte, possibly bringing the first apartment construction to the area in 25 years.

Brennen and Melissa Friloux of Luling got rezoning approval for a 120-foot by 240-foot lot at 14183 U.S. Highway 90 across from the RaceTrac and next to Hahnville High School. The property for the project was rezoned from commercial to residential.

Brennan Friloux, a builder and Realtor, said the three apartment units, an estimated $500,000 to $750,000 project, would upgrade a “blighted area” with residential properties ranging in the 40- to 50-year range. While the zoning has been commercial there, Friloux said the apartments were a more logical direction with at least 40 commercial properties on the market in the area.

Been around the world twice, but this Marine missed Luling

By Anna Thibodeaux
Managing Editor
annat@heraldguide.com

Master Sgt. Mason Beasley has been around the world twice, but of all these places he's seen and lived in the one he missed most was Luling. "It was just the right move to come back," Beasley said. "There's no place like home. Nobody cooks like us. The people here - they're friendly, great fishing and our families being here." These were all among the many things he and his wife, Erika, missed about home. Effective May 31, Beasley, 39, will officially retire from the U.S. Marines Corps. He'd served 21 years in the military, having joined right out of graduating from Hahnville High School. "I wanted to be in the service and that's the one that caught my eye," Beasley said. He'd served in ROTC and anticipated being in the military, but had not decided on the branch until he heard a recruiter talk about the Marines. He started as a landing specialist and then got promoted into an office job as a logistics chief.

Police advise caution after rash of auto burglaries

Peaked this month with 14 burglaries over two days in Destrehan area

Lock up your vehicles. Several parish residents have been victimized by a recent rash of automobile burglaries, and as the St. Charles Parish Sheriff's Office looks for the culprits, police advise residents take precautions to make it less likely they count themselves among the victimized. On Feb. 16, two vehicles were burglarized in St. Rose and another in Boutte, with firearms being stolen in two of the cases. A day prior, $250 was taken from another vehicle parked in St. Rose, and the day before that, a wallet from a vehicle in Luling. The peak thus far, however, came on the nights of Feb. 10 and 11, where 14 vehicle burglaries were reported in the Destrehan area. That followed a separate report of several burglaries at the Cypress RV Park in Boutte. Last year yielded a 22-year low for St. Charles Parish's crime rate, a 12.4 percent drop from 2017. Total burglaries fell by 113, thefts by 92 and

My grandmother had a sweet shop, and my mother took it over as a convenience store. So this is going back to our roots a little bit." That convenience store, Scott's Grocery, is still going strong in Killona and primarily run by Patterson's brother and sister, though she also assists. That store was where her

Two St. Charles men are suspects in rash of thefts in Raceland

By Anna Thibodeaux

Managing Editor
annat@heraldguide.com

Two St. Charles Parish men are suspects in a string of recent thefts and attempted thefts in Raceland.

Joshua Rousseau, 30, of Hahnville was identified as

Joshua Rousseau

George Hunter

one of the suspects and is currently at Nelson Coleman Correctional Center in Killona, according to the Lafourche Parish Sheriff's Office.

The driver, identified as George Hunter, 36, of Des Allemands, is still at large.

On Feb. 17, Lafourche Parish deputies investigated a string of crimes including burglary, theft and attempted theft mostly reported on St. Anthony Street in Raceland.

Some residents reported stolen property and others had some property moved to the roadside to apparently be stolen later.

Surveillance cameras captured images of a white male subject and a pickup truck with an unknown driver, according to the Lafourche Parish Sheriff's Office.

Through investigation, deputies identified the male subject as Rousseau. They were also able to determine the driver of the truck was Hunter. Warrants were obtained for both men for simple burglary, two counts of theft and seven counts of attempted theft, one of which was for attempting to steal a motor vehicle.

Rousseau was found to be incarcerated in St. Charles Parish on unrelated charges, and remains in jail there at this time.

Anyone with knowledge of Hunter's whereabouts is asked to contact Crime Stoppers Bayou Region by phone at (800) 743-7433 or online at www.crimestoppersbr.org. Tips can also be submitted using the P3 Tips app on a mobile device. Tipsters could be eligible for a reward of up to $1,000 in cash if the information leads to an arrest.

Lent is a time to change and become more Christlike

The Season of Lent begins (began) on Ash Wednesday, March 6. Lent is the season of change. We want to rid ourselves of everything that is not of Christ and become more Christlike. During Lent we recognize the three sacrificial pillars of Prayer, Fasting, Almsgiving.

The most important sacrificial pillar of Lent is Prayer. There are two types of prayer: public and private. Both of them are important. We know that Jesus prayed publically. Scripture tells us that he customarily attended public worship services. He taught his followers to pray the “Our Father” together and to pray before meals.

Jesus also stressed the importance of praying alone. He often went alone into quiet places to pray. He went to the mountains, the wilderness, along the shore – any secluded place to spend time alone with his Father. Jesus also taught his followers to find places where they could be alone with God. “Go into your room and shut the door and pray to your Father in secret.”

Jesus knew that the strength of our spiritual lives is measured by the quality of our time alone with God. When we spend time alone with God listening, sharing, and allowing God to nourish us, we develop healthy spirits and find inner strength to face the difficulties of life. Remember. Prayer is a conversation with God. It’s important that we listen to what God wants to tell us.

Think of the most dedicated Christians you have known. They are probably people of prayer who have courageously handled whatever life throws at them. They have displayed a strong confidence that “all things work together for good to those who love God” (Rom. 8:28). When we spend time alone with God, we also discover spiritual riches, and the truth of Jesus’ words.

Fasting is an important part of our spiritual discipline. When we fast (abstaining from food, drink, or something else), we train ourselves in little ways so we can say “No” to more destructive things in life. Jesus fasted. Monks and saints fasted. So can we!

Our fasting can be more affected if we target them to some particular aspect of our lives. We can ask ourselves, “What habits do I engage in that are destructive to my spiritual health? Am I too attached to any material things, biases and prejudices? Are there any areas of my life that are not in balance? Have I totally surrendered myself to God?”

The third spiritual pillar of Lent is Almsgiving. The Bible teaches us that our unselfish giving to others will result in creating benefits for ourselves. Many people do not understand this because they are thinking selfishly and shortsighted. Giving to those in need is a way to add value to the world around us.

Jesus said, “Give, and it will be given to you. A good measure, pressed down, shaken together, running over, will be put into your lap; for the measure you give will be the measure you get back.” (Luke 6:38)

Pride or the desire for recognition must never motivate our almsgiving. Christians should be known for their good works and almsgiving just as Jesus is known for his good works. By sacrificing something we hold valuably such as our money or our time, we are acknowledging that God is first in our lives.

Many of us are misusing energy and strength that we really could devote for godly things like caring, loving, serving, reaching out compassionately, and establishing honest, supportive relationships. We can play mind games with each other. However, when we let those mind games extend to our relationship with our God, we won’t know who we are, or whose we are!

Again, Lent is a time to change and become more Christlike. May you Lent be meaningful!

FROM THE HERALD-GUIDE

100-year storm protection is overdue

As more residents seek help from flooding, the necessity of signing the project partnering agreement to bring $760 million to the West Shore Levee project becomes ever clearer.

The agreement brings together key organizations that make it possible: The Louisiana Coastal Protection and Restoration Authority (CPRA) and the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers (USACE) for the West Shore Levee Project at the Pontchartrain Levee District (PLD) Board Office.

The project will include an estimated 18 miles of earthen levees and floodwalls, one mile of which will be in located in St. Charles Parish. The project will benefit St. Charles, as well as St. John the Baptist and St. James parishes.

Larry Cochran, St. Charles Parish president, calls it a critical mile.

Cochran said the project is vital to the parish because it brings 100-year flood protection to the area of Montz. It will not only protect parish residents on the East Bank by providing complete levee protection, but is also the first step to helping lower flood insurance rates.

Gov. John Bel Edwards said the Coastal Master Plan calls for this large-scale hurricane protection project and, with the funding in hand, will move forward immediately. Edwards said 60,000 people will benefit from better protection.

As an example, the governor said Hurricane Isaac flooded nearly 7,000 homes in the region and emergency services, recovery efforts and commerce were hindered by having 1-10 flooded for several days. Once completed, this project will help avoid repeating this kind of suffering.

Ricky Bosco, Pontchartrain Levee District president, agreed this is a significant accomplishment and expressed appreciation to Congressman Garret Graves and all of our congressional and state delegation.

It’s an agreement 40 years in the making, which Cochran said is long overdue.

Thanks goes to the many who helped make this milestone happen, but more so easing the minds of residents who have to endure floods. Everyone should be able to feel safe even in a parish with so much water that serves as the paradise and challenge of these changing times.

Being honest about Louisiana’s problems

Louisiana has many strengths. We have a fantastic culture, welcoming people, a rich heritage of community and ample natural resources. We are the Sportsman’s Paradise and, yes, we can cook with the best of them. But, if we are being honest, we also have some faults.

We have too often looked the other way over the decades when corruption and political shenanigans were obvious to see. Our educational system needs serious attention, and our infrastructure is in desperate need of repair. We have long tolerated the roller coaster that comes with a boom or bust economy and too often scratched our heads as we pondered why companies and their high-paying jobs flock to other states rather than ours.

The answer is simple. Our business culture does not match the caliber of our community culture. Our laws create a hostile business environment, our elected leaders have not stepped up to address these problems in a serious way and we as voters have let them get away with such behavior for far too long.

The specifics on how to fix this are not hard to figure out. Louisiana’s business climate faces well-documented, perennial challenges: an unfriendly legal environment, an under-skilled workforce and an unnecessarily complex tax system, among others.

In recent weeks, we at the Louisiana Association of Business and Industry (LABI) have released two compelling reports on tax issues. One details the tremendous positive impact the Industrial Tax Exemption Program (ITEP) has made on Louisiana in terms of increased teacher pay, worker wages, and state and local tax collections.

The second report cites data from the Legislative Fiscal Office and an analysis from Ernst and Young to detail the tremendous amount of business tax increases passed over the last three years in Louisiana and the impact it has had on our competitiveness.

Louisiana’s business tax climate is ranked No. 44 in the nation as a result of this complicated framework as well as the imposition of numerous taxes on businesses that other states do not impose. The inventory tax, high state and local sales taxes on business inputs such as utilities and manufacturing machinery and equipment (MM&E) and an expanding franchise tax top the list of uncompetitive taxes imposed on Louisiana businesses.

Louisiana business taxes are estimated at $10.1 billion annually for state and local government. In fact, Louisiana ranked #1 in the nation for the annual increase in state and local business taxes from 2016 to 2017 – largely as a result of action by elected officials to increase collections of corporate income and franchise tax, raise the sales tax rate and expand the business inputs to which sales tax applies.

Rules generated by executive orders from Governor Edwards in 2016 (and revised in 2018) also significantly limited ITEP, resulting in no financial benefit to the state but requiring increased property tax payments to local government.

The Council On State Taxation (COST) reports that business taxes grew two percent on average across the U.S. while increasing an estimated 12.5 percent in Louisiana. For a closer comparison, Texas grew state and local business taxes by 3.3 percent, while Mississippi and Arkansas reduced by 0.6 percent and 0.9 percent, respectively.

National data confirms the sizeable increase in business taxes projected by the Louisiana Legislative Fiscal Office in each of the more than 30 bills passed by the Legislature and supported by the governor raising business taxes from 2015 to 2018. In just three years, the totality of this legislation required an additional $3.2 billion from Louisiana businesses for the operations of state and local government. While some of these changes were temporary, more than 20 bills made permanent changes to Louisiana tax policy to drive up tax revenue from employers. Unfortunately, most of the new tax policy has only served to further complicate and burden Louisiana businesses, as state rankings for tax competitiveness fall even lower.

COST data indicates Louisiana businesses pay 40 percent of all state taxes and 58 percent of all local taxes for a total of just under half of all taxes collected in Louisiana (49 percent). Of note, Louisiana businesses fund state and local government at or above the national average, where businesses pay 38 percent of state taxes, 52 percent of local taxes and a total of 44 percent of all state/local taxes in the United States.

In addition to the three major categories of property, sales, and income tax, large categories of business taxes in Louisiana include severance tax, excise taxes, and business and occupational licenses, totaling hundreds of millions of dollars annually for state and local government.

Our legal climate is ranked last in the nation due to laws designed to encourage big paydays through predatory litigation. This has chased away many in the energy industry and is a big reason our car insurance rates are almost double the national average. Government spending in Louisiana is the highest per capita in the South, yet our services still struggle to meet demand. Many of our schools, despite billions in annual taxpayer investment, still fall short in preparing kids for the workforce. All the while, reforms to address these issues are routinely killed each year in the Capitol.

This long-standing tolerance of bad policies and uninspired leadership is killing us.

We can do better.

We can build an economy, workforce and business climate that match the excellence of our people, community and traditions. 2019 is an election year and it is the year to change all of this. Demand more from your elected officials, give them the backing they need to be courageous and hold them accountable when they are not.

It’s time to get informed on the issues that matter. Louisiana has so many good traits of which we can all be quite proud... but it’s simply no longer acceptable that we tolerate the bad ones.

Agreement highlights

- $760 million funding for the West Shore Lake Pontchartrain project. Construction is being funded 65 percent federal, 35 percent local cost share.
- Will benefit three parishes – St. Charles, St. John the Baptist and St. James.
- Authorized by Congress in 2016 to provide a 100-year level of storm surge risk reduction in the three-parish study area.
- Will include structural features such as an estimated 18-mile levee and four pump stations, as well as non-structural measures in St. James Parish.

Baptist and St. James parishes. “We’ll see results immediately,” Cochran said of benefits for Montz. “With the storms we’ve had in the past, Montz has received Lake Ponchartrain waters. They were flooded for days,” he said of Hurricane Isaac’s impact.

Plans are to bid out the first phase of the work in October 2020.

Cochran said the project’s advantages also include lower flood insurance rates, which were made higher by FEMA not recognizing the Mississippi River as separating the parish.

“That’s why it’s critical we can realize lower flood rates parishwide,” he said. “Along with the West Bank levee, that is what we’ll realize.”

Cochran said the three parishes working in unison along with the parish’s Congressional delegation achieved the milestone agreement with the help of the PLD.

“Everything fell into place in Washington,” he said. “And having Congressman Garret Graves and our delegation moving it forward, we were able to achieve this. It’s been a lot of work.”

Cochran also called it a significant development in overall protection.

“It’s exactly what we’re hoping for the East Bank to bring us 100-year protection,” he said.

According to CPRA, $760 million in federal funds have been allocated through the Bipartisan Budget Act of 2018, which was signed into law on Feb. 9 of last year. CPRA’s Executive Director Bren Haase also emphasized the project is part of a larger plan to help reduce risk and improve resiliency for the region.

Gov. John Bel Edwards said getting to the point of agreement was not an easy task.

“But it’s because of the hard work of the people here today that we were finally able to make it happen,” Edwards said. “Flood protection and infrastructure is important to any community and this project increases protection for 60,000 homes.”

The governor said the Coastal Master Plan called for this large-scale hurricane protection project, and now that funding is in place they are wasting no time in moving it forward.

“We have 60,000 people who will benefit by having their homes, families, jobs and communities better protected from the increasing threat of tropical storm surge,” Edwards said. “Hurricane Isaac flooded about 7,000 homes in this region, and emergency services, recovery efforts and commerce were hindered by having I-10 flooded for several days. Once this $760 million project is completed, we hope never to see that kind of suffering again.”

“The Shell theatre seating is the only major component that is currently not completed,” Rome said. “There are some minor punch list items and some permanent interior and exterior signage that needs to be installed. The punch list items and outstanding signage installation do not have any effect on the functionality of the facility.”

Center Director Chris

Melohn said they’ve hosted many events this year, including school concerts, theatre performances and district-wide arts workshops.

“We have had touring productions such as Til Birnam Wood and Ken Waldman who not only performed, but worked with our students in workshops and residencies,” Melohn said.

March 16. Also, the 11th annual ArtsFest will be held on March 16.

The center is bringing in BritBeat (a Beatles tribute band), Daniel Martin (a magician/mental) and a spotlight summer intensive musical theatre program for students who will be entering grades 3 - 12 in the fall.

Collectively, Medina-Hamilton said the center is averaging 150 to 500 students in and out of the building each week between rehearsals, performances, workshops and full-time classes.

Every day, there are six classes of students in the arts center: Advanced TV and Broadcasting, Interactive Media, and Digital Media. Each class has two sections.

There are also an influx of students attending programs at the center for field trips.

The center also has housed Artsperiences with two events drawing about 800 attendees; school arts programs such as rehearsals and performances including 66 events and 4,000 attendees; Gifted, Talented and Arts events have included 18 student events with 2,500 attendees; 20 teacher events and meetings with about 150 attendees, and district events and collaborations including 15 events with 1,000 attendees.

Community Education has used the building, too.

Some 10 classes have been offered there with three different classes a week, each drawing about 30 people a week.

The Lafon center has even had six rental events, two company meetings, and Destrehan and Hahnville high school ring ceremonies.

“It just became, ‘No one cares. I don’t like it. I don’t like this,’” Matisse recalled. “I didn’t want anyone to know about it. I just wanted them to see me as me. So I dealt with it kind of hard.”

Her self-consciousness carried from middle school into high school. But during her junior year, she made acquaintance with another person who needed hearing aids, and who not only seemed to not let it affect him adversely, but who actually embraced it. “Gavin didn’t hide it at all,” Matisse said. “Seeing that really inspired me to do the same, and not only that, but to try to help other people who might have a disability realize it’s nothing to dwell on or have negative feelings over. You’re still you.”

Now a student at Southeastern Louisiana University, she’s making good on that. Matisse and a classmate started the first American Sign Language club at Southeastern, and it has quickly taken a foothold: the newly formed club already has 18 members after just two meetings, and more have shown interest in joining. The club is called the Sound of Silence, and in addition to learning sign language, the group spreads awareness around campus about the disability.

That effort follows a senior project at Destrehan in which she raised money for Louisiana Hands and Voices, an organization that provides support for the families of children who are deaf or hard of hearing. She also made a special video to show what it means to be deaf or hard of hearing, with a focus on wiping out misconceptions about it.

“There’s a lot of stuff going on in this world, so why be negative, stay in your room and cry about it? Live your life and embrace positivity.”

- Miranda Matisse

“I know what (those who have suffered hearing loss) deal with ... people tend to not understand it and may treat you differently, speak to you like you need to be fixed or even discriminate against them,” Matisse said. “People ask me if I’m angry about being hard of hearing and I’m not at all.

“I’ve been asked whether deaf people can drive, and of course. It actually can make you more focused with your eyes. I’ve also been asked if my hearing aid is connected to my brain ... or why don’t I just go and get cured. There are complications to having implants put in and for someone like me, who has moderate but not complete hearing loss, I’m not so far off to need that.”

But mostly, she takes issue with the idea that people who are dealing with these issues are somehow broken.

“That’s really what the video deals with. I hope to help people understand these people don’t need or want to be “fixed,” she said.

The senior project fundraiser exceeded what she thought it would—“I wanted to initially raise $200, but it went all the way to $600, a lot of people shared the story ... it was great to see” —and likewise, the Southeastern club has ballooned past her expectations.

“I just want others to know they don’t have to hide their disability,” she said. “There’s a lot of stuff going on in this world, so why be negative, stay in your room and cry about it? Live your life and embrace positivity.”

Hearing loss

- Approximately 1,000,000 people in the United States are considered functionally deaf, while approximately 35 million Americans (or 11.3 percent of the population) are hearing-impaired.
- The 2005 MarkeTrak VII report projected that the number of Americans with hearing loss will increase to 40 million by 2025 and 53 million by 2050.
- The No. 1 cause of hearing loss is excessive noise exposure.
- 37 percent of children with hearing loss fail at least one grade.

He will be sentenced May 30 in New Orleans federal court. Cortez could serve up to 10 years in prison, followed by three years of supervised release, and be fined up to $250,000.

According to U.S. Attorney Peter Strasser’s office, Cortez was arrested by special agents after authorities were notified by PayPal and eBay regarding significant quantities of U.S. postal stamps sold by Cortez on eBay.

The Attorney’s Office said an investigation revealed that as manager, Cortez increased the Kenner North Post Office’s reserve stamp stock by more than $600,000. Subpoenaed records from Cortez’s bank account revealed substantial deposits, including more than $58,000 in a one-month period in the summer of 2018.

Agents executed a federal search warrant of Cortez’s home on Oct. 10. It was at that time, according to Strasser’s office, that Cortez admitted to stealing the stamps and then selling them on eBay, estimating he had stolen “hundreds of thousands” of dollars in stamp stock.

Cortez apparently confessed that a gambling addiction drove him to commit the act. He said he manipulated stamp stock counts by using another supervisor’s password to access the computer system. As a result, existing internal controls failed to detect the theft of these stamps.

During the investigation, postal agents determined Cortez withdrew thousands of dollars on a regular basis at Harrah’s Casino in New Orleans and that he lost over $667,000 since 2011 and over $220,000 in 2017. According to postal records, his annual salary earned was $70,818.

“I’m tearing old buildings down and building nice apartments, which the parish needs,” he said.

Friloux estimated the parish hasn’t gotten a new apartment complex on the West Bank in possibly 25 years.

“A lack of housing growth has hampered commercial growth,” he said.

Friloux owns rental houses in the parish, as well as a duplex in Ama (converted from Jimmy’s Seafood Restaurant), which is rented at this time.

Public Works Director Clayton “Snookie” Fauchaux said the parish is working on improving the area’s sewer capacity.

Fauchaux said the system can not currently handle all proposed apartment units coming online, but efforts are underway to address it. He advised the parish lacks the money at this time to address this, as well as households with “sanitary overflow” issues.

should coincide with planned efforts to upgrade the system.

Councilman Paul Hogan, who alone opposed the rezoning request, said it does not meet code requirements.

Council Chairwoman Julia Fisher said she considered this an improvement and voted in support of the rezoning.

“I’m definitely in favor of this one,” Fisher told Hogan.

Joe Christian, who said he owns property adjoining Friloux’s property, opposed the zoning change. Christian expressed concerns the change could hamper future use of his property.

auto thefts by five. When discussing those numbers, St. Charles Parish Sheriff Greg Champagne credited the public awareness efforts made by the Sheriff’s Office when it was determined many stolen items were taken from unlocked vehicles. Vehicle burglaries were the most reported crime last year, but that there was a 13 percent decrease from the year before.

Cpl. James Grimaldi, Sheriff’s Office spokesman, said it’s not yet known how this year’s vehicle burglary numbers compare to last year’s until next month, as the Sheriff’s Office’s statistics are compiled and evaluated on a month-by-month basis.

He said that vehicle burglaries stand as one of the more common crimes because it tends to be among the simpler ones. Often, burglars aren’t targeting one specific car — nor are they satisfied with the haul from one.

“Commonly, suspects will walk a specific street block pulling car door handles until they find an unlocked vehicle,” Grimaldi said. “Once they find the unlocked vehicle, they will do a quick rummage, taking any money, electronics, or other valuables they can quickly grab. These specific crimes can be done in as little as a minute from the time they open the door, to the time that they are moving to the next vehicle.”

Because of the fast nature of the crime, it is easy for there to be several burglaries committed on a single street in the course of a night, Grimaldi said.

So though there may have been less burglaries reported a year ago, Grimaldi warns that can change quickly if residents drop their guard. He advises consistently taking an extra moment to ensure the door to one’s vehicle is locked, as well as to look at the vehicle from the outside to ensure valuable items aren’t plainly in sight. If one has anything of any value, it should be taken out of the vehicle or secured in the trunk.

“Criminals go window shopping by looking through your windows. Don’t advertise your valuables by leaving them in view.”

- Cpl. James Grimaldi

“Keep in mind, good people will go window shopping at a mall, looking through a store front’s window,” Grimaldi said. “Criminals go window shopping by looking through your windows. Don’t advertise your valuables by leaving them in view.”

Auto burglaries

- Last year saw a 13 percent decrease in auto burglaries reported in St. Charles Parish, but it was also the most reported crime.
- There were 14 burglaries over two nights in February of this year.
- Because of the crime’s simple nature, a car burglar can be apt to target not one, but several cars in an area at a given time, making it imperative to lock doors and keep valuable items out of plain sight.

“I pretty much ran everything in the spectrum in logistics from supply to armories to loading vehicles or ammunition,” he said.

He has still doing this work at his last assignment in Okinawa, Japan.

The couple had been contemplating their return to Luling for at least two years, but assignment to Japan made it happen.

“I’m done moving,” Beasley said. “My oldest son is a senior at Hahnville High, but this is his fourth high school.”

So Beasley and his high school sweetheart decided it was time to make the move for their four children.

“I’m glad I did it,” he said of serving in the Marines. “I’m glad I got to experience the things I did. I’ve been around the world twice.”

This Marine has served in Iraq twice and on three Mediterranean deployments.

“I’ve been around a lot,” he said. “I was stationed on a ship, which is not common for Marines anymore. We’ve lived in North Carolina, Florida, Mississippi, Louisiana and back to North Carolina and then Japan.”

They’ve relocated about every two years, and now he’s making his biggest move per his career.

In the Marines, Beasley’s travels also took him to places including Rome, Barcelona, the Ukraine and Greece.

“I’m excited about (moving back to Luling),” he said. “I can’t wait. I’m in a job hunt now and would like to stay in logistics because I’ve done it 21 years.”

Although he can’t start a new job until April 1, they’re taking a vacation, house shopping in St. Charles Parish and looking forward to staying in place.

“I loved my career and the opportunities it gave me,” Beasley said. “It just got to the point for me and family that it was time to retire.”

“We’ve had a long journey. We’re excited about the next chapter.”

The Beasley Family timeline

- Beasley attended Marine Corps Boot Camp at Marine Corps Recruit Depot San Diego on June 10, 1998. He was promoted to Private First Class upon graduation.
- On July 23, 1999, Beasley married his high school sweetheart Erika Lynn Naquin. The week following their marriage he was attached to MEU Service Support Group 24 (MSSG 24).
- After returning from his first six-month deployment to the Mediterranean Sea, the couple had their first child, Mikael Kameron Beasley, on Oct. 2, 2000. Soon after his birth, Beasley was promoted to corporal and was selected to be the platoon sergeant for Combat Cargo on the USS Carter Hall where he did a seven-month deployment to the Mediterranean Sea.
- Masilynn Thaia Beasley was born on June 16, 2003. Soon after her birth, Beasley was selected to be the S4 Chief at H&S Battalion, 2d Mar Div.

- Their third child, Madisynn Ann Beasley, was born on Aug. 12, 2010. From there, Beasley was transferred back to Camp Lejeune to be the Logistics Chief for Second Radio Battalion.
- After a 7-1/2-month deployment to the Red Sea, Beasley returned and received orders to Combat Logistics Regiment 37, 3d MLG, Okinawa, Japan. Shortly after their arrival, their fourth child, Mason Keith Beasley Jr., was born on March 23, 2017. He served as the S4 Chief for CLR 37 from July 1, 2016 through his retirement.

mother, Katherine Scott Isaac, became known for her generosity and love of community, particularly its youth.

“She had the only convenience store in the area and for those people who didn’t have a vehicle to get anywhere, it was accessible and she’d help supply things,” Patterson said. “She contributed to different community services and different projects ... the kids were her soft spot. She saw them grow up from when they were babies and she wanted to play a positive role for them.”

Patterson said Katherine was a role model for her as a female entrepreneur, something playing out with the establishment of her store today.

“She showed people there’s more you can do in life,” Patterson said. “(Through the grocery and the shop), we try to keep that part of her alive, but also through our own creativity. It’s really in all of our DNA.”

Perhaps fittingly, Katherine’s Sweet Shoppe opened Dec. 14, the anniversary of when the siblings lost their mother.

“We didn’t plan it, but it happened that way,” Patterson said.

So far, she said the response has been positive at her new shop, located at 124 Longview Drive in Destrehan. She noted the shop’s candies include some of the “old school” variety that aren’t available everywhere, like pop rocks, sour patch, pixy stix and Now & Later.

But you can also grab a coffee, buy candles and lotions, try some home-made baked goods and pick out a gift basket for a special occasion—though Valentine’s Day has passed, Easter is on deck.

“I feel like my life’s come full circle.”
- Nikkia Patterson

It’s an exciting venture for someone who is thrilled to be back home, with both of her children and three grandchildren calling the community home, along with her siblings.

“You can’t ask for more than that,” she said. “I moved back home to be closer with my family. It’s really been great ... I feel like my life’s come full circle.”

Sweet ... or sour?

- The most popular candy in Louisiana? According to the tracking website CandyStore.com, Lemonheads reign supreme at 108,025 pounds of them ordered over the last year recorded.
- They’re followed by Reese’s Cups (85,166 pounds) and Blow Pops (36,927 pounds).
- Louisiana is the only state where Lemonheads tops the list.

Lumar into Loyola Hall for 2nd time

By Ryan Arena

ryana@heraldguide.com

These days, Hahnville High principal Brian Lumar spends his time finding ways to spur his school to continuous improvement and success, and ultimately helping his students reach their dreams.

But for players who opposed him during his time playing basketball for Loyola University-New Orleans, Lumar was a nothing short of a nightmare.

He established himself as one of the very best to take the court at the school, and those talents were spotlighted when he became the youngest Loyola alumnus to ever have his number retired and to be enshrined in the school's Hall of Fame in 2001.

Lumar became a two-time inductee to the Loyola Hall earlier this year, this time entering alongside his teammates and coaches on the 1994-95 men's basketball team, the Southwestern Regional Champion that year, which was honored as one of the school's all-time great teams. Loyola recognized Lumar and his Teammates during the basketball game and at an elaborate Hall of Fame Ceremony and Reception.

The 94-95 Wolfpack exceeded all expectations as a true underdog- the Loyola basketball program had just been re-established after the cancellation of school athletics in 1971 and did not boast the scholarship athletes and experienced players of their opposition.

But there was talent hidden there, and it became quite apparent early on. The Wolfpack scored an early upset over Spring Hill, then ranked fourth in NAIA Division I.

The Wolfpack turned even more heads, as it turned out, in a loss, playing Iowa State, then Division I's No. 15 ranked team in the country,

Tigers learning under fire in difficult non-district stretch

Will face No. 1 and 2 ranked teams Saturday

By Ryan Arena

Behind a strong effort on the mound by starting pitcher Joey Saucier, Hahnville snapped an early season losing streak on Saturday via a 3-1 victory over Sulphur at the Billy Navarre Chevrolet Classic tournament.

Saucier went the complete game, allowing one earned run on six hits while striking out eight. He walked three to help push the Tigers (1-8) to their first win of the season, perhaps serving as a spark for a team that's been trying to find its footing after losing the majority of its starters from a season ago.

Hahnville scored two runs in the first inning on David Bernard's two-RBI double, then added one in the third when Lucky scored on an error after he singled his way on. Sulphur scratched its lone run across in the fifth.

Mason Lucky led Hahnville offensively, going 4-for-4 at the plate - including a double - while scoring two runs. David Bernard went 1-for-3 with two RBIs.

It was a reversal of fortune for a Tigers team that had been on the losing end of several close ballgames early this season. Hahnville has lost five games by two runs or less, including decisions to Lafayette, 2-1; Acadiana, 12-10; Catholic-Baton Rouge, 3-1; and Denham Springs, 2-1.

“The big thing for us is we have to throw strikes,” said Hahnville coach David Baudry. “That's been a struggle for us ... we've played excellent defense all year and offensively, against some really good arms, we've been pretty good. But we have to throw strikes. This has been the toughest schedule we've ever played, so we really have to be on our A-game, day after day.”

That said, if that's been the missing component, the tournament games could offer a glimpse of a positive run of play ahead. Baudry noted very strong performances by Jack Stumbo, Collin Maise and Cameron Schmill along with Saucier last weekend. Maise and Schmill are just getting back to form after missing time earlier this season.

“When we throw strikes, we have a chance to win any game we play,” Baudry said.

That Lafayette loss came earlier in the tournament, after Hahnville couldn't find a way to push the tying run across after cutting a 2-0 lead to one run on Saucier's sixth inning RBI double to score Bryson Thomas.

Destrehan starts to bounce back after winless start

Coach says team improved from '18 playoff squad

By Ryan Arena

Destrehan began the season 0-5 on the softball diamond, but Wildcats' coach Kenny Montz didn't get discouraged, and his team's past two victories have only fortified his belief in his team.

“We're a better team than we were last year,” said Montz, who guided DHS to the 2018 postseason as the No. 13 seed in 5A. “The record doesn't show it, but we've taken a step.”

He has a sound argument. While the winless start wasn't the ideal beginning he or his players would have envisioned, Destrehan's first five opponents went a combined 18-2 to begin the year.

The Wildcats (2-6) have also shown they tough in a competitive game. It foretold what would be a dream season for the school, earning a top seed in the Southwestern Conference's Regional Tournament and going on to win it, clinching a berth in the NAIA national tournament in the process. Lumar earned status as an Academic All-American that season. A do-it-all forward, Lumar finished his collegiate career as Loyola's all-time leading scorer and rebounder, tallying over 1,800 points and over 1,000 rebounds. Following his time at Loyola,

But following that success, he determined he could better serve young people in the classroom. He returned to school to earn his masters in educational leadership, setting him upon the path that would eventually make him HHS principal. "It certainly feels amazing to have been inducted for the second time," Lumar said. "We had a great group of guys that worked together giving a tremendous amount of effort and always was mentally tough. Our motto was 'Play Hard, Play Smart and Play together.'"

Brian Lumar's 1995 Southwestern Regional Championship ring.

Lumar entered the prep coaching ranks, first earning an assistant coaching job at his alma mater Shaw and helping to guide the Eagles to two boys basketball state championships. He aspired to be a head coach, however, and he grabbed hold of that opportunity at Hahnville, where he guided the boys basketball program to an unprecedented success, culminating with finishes as a state finalist in 2003 and 2009.

The team's on-court accolades were coupled with strong academic work in the classroom, something the educator remains especially proud of to this day. "I am most proud of that fact that our entire basketball team had a higher grade point average than the entire university," said Lumar, who graduated from Loyola with a 3.45 GPA. "We were truly student athletes that worked extremely hard in and out of the classroom."

Remembering a legend - and friend

As America celebrated Black History Month in February, one could be sure the mind of Ama's Glenn Singleton often drifted to the memories of his friend George Taliaferro, a true trailblazer in athletics who passed away late last year. Taliaferro was the first African-American to ever be drafted by an NFL team, selected by the New York Yanks in 1950 after a stellar collegiate career at Indiana University. His efforts at Indiana were such that he went on to be enshrined in the College Football Hall of Fame in 1981. Taliaferro wrote the foreword to Singleton's book Crossing Over: A Tribute to Don Raymond. Above left, Singleton and Taliaferro in a candid moment while above right, Singleton pays homage to the former star tailback.

Hahnville, allowing two unearned runs on six hits and three walks in a complete game effort. Jacob Tate earned the win for Lafayette, going six innings and allowing one earned run on four hits. The schedule doesn't lighten up. A rematch with Sulphur is set for Friday (hosted at St. Amant) before Hahnville takes on the daunting task of facing the state's top two ranked teams in a double-header Saturday, Sam Houston and Zachary (both hosted at Zachary), all of those games taking place at the Jay Patterson shootout. While Baudry said the tough schedule — Hahnville's strength of schedule led the state in wins notched by opponents entering the week — certainly should make the Tigers better in the long run, he was also clear that wins must materialize and fast. "The schedule" wasn't purposely set up that way, but I also feel you don't get better by beating teams who are easily beaten... Hopefully it helps us later on, but you have to win games," Baudry said. "We're 1-8. I told our guys the goal coming out of the next nine is to be 5-4, post a winning record in this stretch and set ourselves up to make a run."

can compete with some of the state's elite programs in that stretch. A scoreless tie for six innings led to a tight win by St. Amant after it plated two runners in the seventh for a 2-1 victory at DHS. That followed a 4-3 loss to Central decided on the last at-bat of that game. Visiting Walker extended a 2-1 lead in the seventh for a 4-1 victory. Destrehan's other losses came 5-2 against Parkview Baptist and 5-1 against East Ascension. "We've played a very tough schedule, but we've been very competitive in those games," Montz said. "We're having trouble putting together complete games against some really good teams right now. The hope is that by elevating our schedule a little bit, it prepares us better for later in the season and the playoffs." The Wildcats seem to be putting those lessons to practice, if last week's wins over Vanderbilt Catholic and Belle Chasse are any indication. Destrehan came out hot against Vanderbilt and posted five runs in the first inning en route to a 10-3 win, while DHS plated runs in all but one inning in a 10-run rule win over Belle Chasse. Destrehan brings back most of its starters from last season, but what was a very young core last season remains so now.

Two seniors, first baseman Gia Zeringue and third baseman Lainnie Dugas, return as four year starters and three-year All-District selections. Starting alongside them are five sophomores and two freshmen. "Those two (seniors) are unquestionably our leaders," Montz said. "They've been invaluable not only through their play, but they know the expectations of the program and they're guiding our young players." One of those sophomores, Tyler Oubre, broke out in a freshman season that included several gems. "She's throwing well," Montz said. "She's pitched well enough to win some of these games, but we haven't gotten that big hit or had the chance to do some damage. We expect a very good season from her." Montz said he believes pitching and defense have been the team's strengths so far. The hitting has been slow to start, but he believes that will come as the season continues to unfold. "Our bats have a ways to go, and that's the case for a lot of teams at this point," he said. "We need to figure out a way to have better at-bats in big game situations." Zeringue had a big day in the Belle Chasse win, going 3-for-4 with four RBIs and two runs scored. T'Auna Fenroy went 2-for-4 with two RBIs. Alyssa Vicknair, Moriah Omond and Gabby Sutton each earned two hits and scored a combined five runs between them. Vicknair's day included two doubles. Against Vanderbilt, every Destrehan starter earned at least one hit, with Omond going 2-for-2 with three RBIs and two runs scored, Zeringue going 2-for-5 with two runs and two RBIs, and Fenroy and Dugas each going 2-for-4 with two RBIs. Today (March 7), the Hahnville/Destrehan rivalry is renewed at DHS, but with a bit of a twist. This game will be a non-district contest, with the District 7-5A showdown set later on. 7-5A coaches elected to play one round of district play this season, opposed to the traditional two. But Montz said the two St. Charles Parish rivals wanted to make sure to keep two head-to-head matchups on the schedule. "Absolutely, we wanted to," he said. "We both like having the home game. We have good crowds. The kids expect to play them, the community expects to play them ... it's always a big game for everyone."

A historic move to bring back ELKINSVILLE

By Anna Thibodeaux
Managing Editor
annat@heraldguide.com

It won't be just a sign, but one aimed at restoring a community founded by Palmer Elkins, a free slave and businessman who purchased more than 100 acres of land between River Road and Airline Highway in the 1800's. Palmer developed an area that included 1st, 2nd, 3rd and 4th streets in what is now called St. Rose, but there are those who dedicated to setting the record straight. "This is a historic community because of its age and significance," said Richard "Ricardo" Smith, co-founder of the Elkinsville Historical Restoration Association.

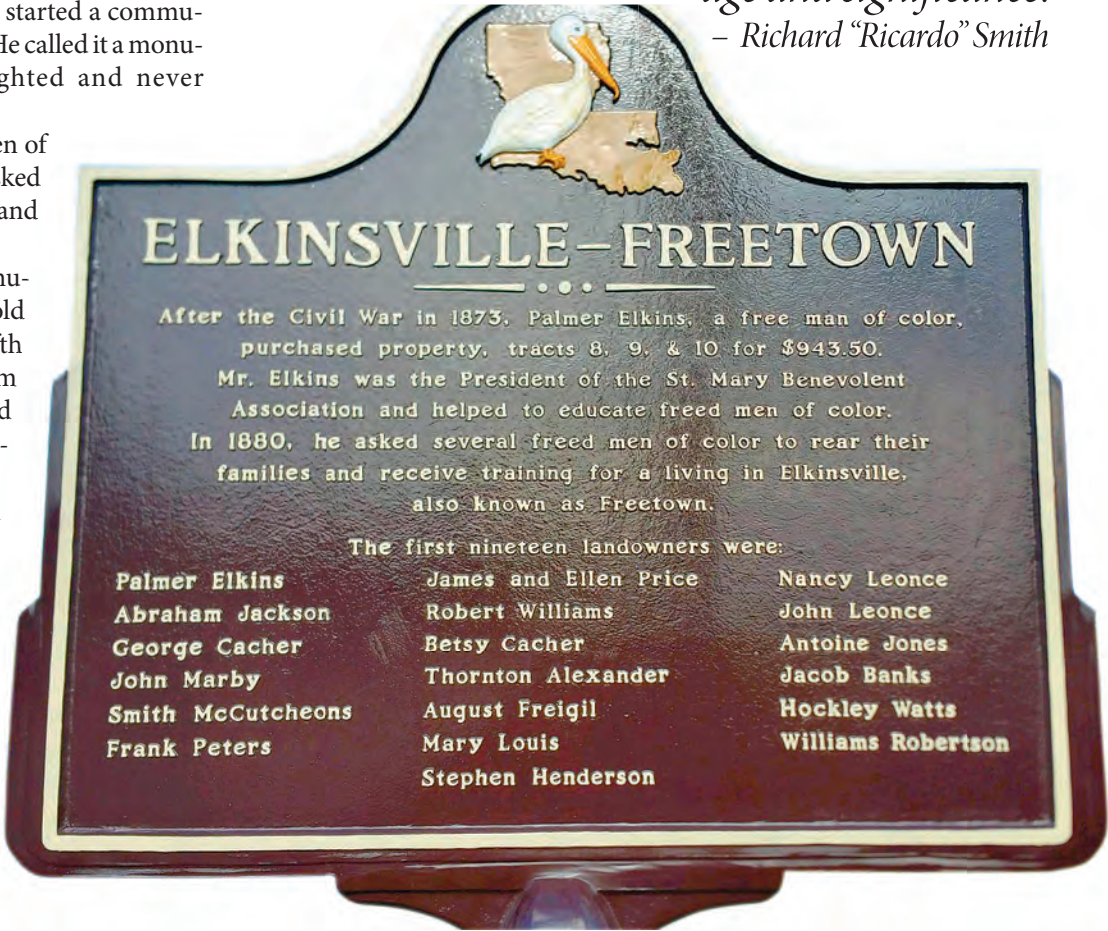

"The name of the community has been lost over time so a part of our mission is to re-establish the name of the community, which is Elkinsville." Association members have been working on restoring the historical name and community since 2008. The Mount Missionary Baptist Church on River Road has donated a piece of land for the sign and fundraisers held to cover the cost of the entranceway, which will mark a neighborhood more than 150 years old. Smith said plans are to have the sign up by spring, as well as get a community center in the near future. "Our organization is solely interested in rebuilding and revitalizing the four streets of Elkinsville and surrounding area with opportunities for revitalization to restore the pride, a sense of community," he said. Over time, the memory of this community faded as residents died and younger residents left the area for areas like Preston Hollow.

"The name Elkinsville will be on there, reestablishing the name of the community," Smith said. "We are reminding the residents of Elkinsville that the community is not St. Rose, but it's Elkinsville." Described as a "free man of color," Smith said Elkins formed the 19th Company, where pulled together 19 individuals to form the company and then purchased the land from him, he said. Those tracks of land became the home of original families to the area, named on a historic marker there, and a deeply rooted spirit determined to preserve the community. Elkins, who came from the North after the Civil War, bought about 160 acres at an auction for $943.50 and developed a community. Smith said "freed people of color" bought and developed this land during that time, and started a community with other freed people of color. He called it a monumental task worth being highlighted and never forgotten. Elkins also helped educate freed men of color in the community. In 1880, he asked several of them to rear their families and receive training. There are two churches in the community and both are well over 100 years old (Mount Zion Baptist Church and Fifth African Baptist Church). Both of them are in Elkinsville, which also was called "Freetown" because that is what it represents to residents.

"The Elkinsville Historic Restoration Association has worked for several years to make this happen," said Parish President Larry Cochran. "And we hope this marker will both identify the area to residents and visitors and give them a brief background of St. Rose history." Smith added, "We just bringing light to that reality is part of our mission, along with that sense of pride and restoration of values."

"This is a historic community because of its age and significance."
